

GREAT FIRE SWEEPS BERKELEY HILLS

PRESIDENT WHEELER AND STUDENTS FIGHT FLAMES

BERKELEY, October 9.—A fire is sweeping over hundreds of acres of grass and brush adjacent to the State University grounds, endangering some of the college buildings. In the midst of a drill of a thousand University cadets President Benjamin Ide Wheeler dismissed the battalions and personally led the student soldiers to fight the fire.

President of U. C. Leads the Students to Front.

How They Turned the Flames From the University Grounds.

BERKELEY, October 9.—A mighty sheet of flame coming down from the summit of the foothills back of the University, threatened the destruction of the detached buildings in the University campus this morning and caused an alarm to be sounded by President Wheeler, who called out one thousand students and converted them into a band of fire fighters, under the personal leadership of the President of the State University.

FIGHTING FLAMES.
For two hours this morning, beginning at 11 o'clock this regiment of University men performed fire duty, determined to prevent the destruction of any college property.

They fought the flames with sacks and in the dense smoke scores of them were so exhausted by their efforts that they had to be carried from the scene.

PRESIDENT AT WORK.
Unable longer to continue their work, President Wheeler, coatless and hatless and carrying in his hand wet sacks fought with all his might at the head of this student body.

In his work of directing the firefighters he was aided by Captain John P. Nance and Professors Ward, O'Neil, and Eagle.

SAVED THEATER.
The efforts of this great crowd of men saved the Greek Theater from destruction, but it was a narrow escape as the flames came within fifty feet of the noble pile of stone.

At 1 o'clock the fire seemed no longer to threaten the University, but a ground pall of smoke still hangs over the University town, and the entire hillside back of the University campus apparently was a mass of flames and smoke.

At 2 o'clock the report said that the flames had taken a course southeast, and threatened the spilling of Judge Garber's handsome residence in Claremont. The smoke was so dense it was impossible to get a view of the section in that vicinity, but every available man in town is being called out under the direction of Fire Chief Kenney and Marshal Vollmer to give battle to the flames, wherever they may be.

The alarm was sounded shortly after 11 o'clock this morning when students who had been climbing on the hillside returned to the campus in haste and reported that the sheet of fire was descending the hills and at the rate it was traveling it might extend to the campus and destroy those buildings that were in its path.

A GREAT WIND.
A great wind was following the flames. When President Wheeler took a look out of one of his office windows he took in the seriousness of the situation at a glimpse.

Instantly he hurried to the SAN JOSE, October 9.—A 40-horse power auto car that was driven to this city yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Koehler, Miss Cecil and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gates, all of San Francisco, is in a local garage smashed beyond recognition, the result of a collision last evening with a heavy car driven by John Wetmore of this city.

The Koehler party were returning to San Francisco and when nearing Warm Springs, Alameda county, the two machines came together head on.

Koehler was badly cut on the head and the entire party had a serious shaking-up. Koehler's machine was badly damaged.

DROPPED DEAD OF HEART DISEASE

MILWAUKEE, October 9.—Robert C. Bradford, treasurer for Cudahy Brothers' Packing Company, and for thirty years identified with the packing industry of Milwaukee, dropped dead as a result of heart failure while calling at the home of a friend at a late hour last night.

STEAMER ARGO IS ASHORE

While Crossing Eureka Bar She is Wrecked.

No Lives Lost But the Damage Will Be Heavy.

EUREKA, Oct. 9.—The steamer Argo, running between Port Kenyon on the Eel River and San Francisco, went ashore on the Eel River bar yesterday while attempting to cross after being bar-bound for several weeks.

The vessel was caught by a heavy sea while on the bar and swept partially back into the river and high upon the sand.

She had no passengers, but was loaded with freight, mostly butter, shipped by the Eel River Transportation Company, which owns the craft. Captain Crimm is in command.

It is believed that the steamer can be floated at high water today.

It is impossible at present to tell whether or not much damage has been done. The vessel is worth about $40,000.

No loss of life nor accidents have been reported.

The steamer has been on this run for several years and has been very fortunate, notwithstanding the fact that it is a dangerous trip, owing to the treacherous bar.

JOSEPH R. RAMSEY JR.
Beats Ramsey Out in the Battle of the Wabash Will First Contest Over Railroad. Take Place Tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS, October 9.—In the St. Louis Circuit Court Judge Daniel C. Taylor denied the application of Joseph Ramsey Jr., deposed president of the Wabash railroad, for an injunction to restrain the Missouri-Pacific and Iron Mountain roads, or their trustees from voting Wabash stock held by or for those railroads in the annual Wabash election to be held in Toledo tomorrow.

News of the decision was telegraphed at once to Toledo, where George J. Gould and his supporters arrived today. The failure of the injunction suit, which if successful would have tied up a large block of Gould stock, is regarded as a most important victory for the Gould interests.

THE DECISION.
Judge Taylor's decision, in part, follows: "It appears from the plaintiff's petition and the verified returns of such of the defendants as have been served in this case, and the evidence adduced upon this hearing for a preliminary injunction, that the plaintiff is a minority stockholder of the Wabash Railroad Company, that the Missouri-Pacific Railroad is the beneficiary owner of 20,000 of the shares of the Wabash Railroad Company, which are now registered upon the stock books of the Wabash Railroad Company in the name of H. M. Walker under an instrument of pledge given to secure certain obligations of the Missouri-Pacific Company held by persons who are strangers to this suit; that the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railroad Company, practically all the shares of which are owned by the Missouri-Pacific Railroad Company, has an interest in $5,435,000 of the debenture bonds of the Wabash Railway Company, which are in the possession of and registered upon the books of the Wabash Company in the name of the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, under the terms of the Wabash Company's unifying and refunding mortgage, and owns 66,000 shares of the preferred stock of the Wabash Company, which are in the name of George Gould and W. L. Wilson; that George Gould is the chief executive officer of

DECLINES TO BE A CANDIDATE

Charles E. Hughes Refuses to Run for Mayor of New York.

NEW YORK, October 9.—Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the legislative investigating committee, today declined the Republican nomination for Mayor of New York City.

In stating his grounds for refusing the nomination which was tendered to him by the unanimous vote of the city Republican convention last Friday night, Mr. Hughes said:

"In this dilemma I have simply to do my duty as I see it. In my judgment I have no right to accept the nomination. A paramount public duty forbids it.

"It is not necessary to enlarge upon the importance of the insurance investigation. This is undisputed. It is dealing with questions vital to the interests of millions of our fellow citizens throughout the land. It presents an opportunity for public service second to none, and involves a co-responsible responsibility. This work commands all my energies. It is imperative that I continue in it. You have frankly recognized that I must continue unembarrassed and with unimpeded efficiency. But it is entirely clear to me that this cannot be if I accept the nomination."

FRANK SHANADE TAKES HIS LIFE AT PLEASANTON.

PLEASANTON, October 9.—Frank Shanade, aged twenty-five years, a native of San Lorenzo, who has been living in Indian town for nearly a year, got up this morning about 2 o'clock and attempted to shoot his mother. He then went outside his cabin and fired a bullet through his head, killing himself. Shanade has spent a year in San Quentin recently.

PHYSICIANS WILL TALK OF HEALTH

WASHINGTON, October 9.—Delegates from twelve South American republics, from the army and navy and from the American Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, attended the opening session of the General International Sanitary Convention here, Surgeon General Walter Wyman, chairman of the International Health Bureau presiding.

The address of welcome on behalf of the Washington Government was made by Mr. Root, the Secretary of State.

HORSE AND HORSE AND ALL IS OFF

The search warrant proceedings brought by S. Robinovich against William Rosenberg, in which the latter was accused of stealing three horses from a livery stable at the corner of Tenth and Harrison streets, San Francisco, were dismissed this morning by Acting Police Judge Geary by consent of both parties.

Robinovich states that he requested Rosenberg to take care of his horses while he attended religious services. Rosenberg agreed, but is alleged to have not only taken care of the horses but to have appropriated them and to have sold them to parties in Hayward and in this city.

By the way of defense Rosenberg states he is a partner. This relationship was denied by Robinovich.

POLICEMEN FEAR THIS BLACK POWDER

Thomas Kennedy and Joseph O'Grady, two laborers, are under arrest at the City Prison awaiting the result of police investigation into their attempt to sell two cans of black powder to the second hand dealers on lower Broadway street.

The police have the powder in their possession, but it is not kept in doors. It now reposes on a shelf in the jail yard, placed high enough to be out of the way of any one who would mischievously attempt to touch a match to it.

NEW FEATURE IN FRUIT MARKET.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 9.—A new feature in the fruit market today was the arrival of small shipments of naval bloom oranges from Southern California. One lot of five boxes was sold at $4.00 to $5.50 per box. These oranges were of a fair size and good color.

GREAT FIRE SWEEPS BERKELEY HILLS

alongside the young college men, determined to stamp out the fire. WIND SHIFTS.

The wind shifted every few minutes, making the task of the firemen doubly difficult.

No sooner was the blaze headed off in one direction and apparently safely secured from its approach than the wind would shift and the flames would be seen sweeping on in a new path, providing new sources of danger and requiring new gangs of men for service.

IN THE CANYON.

At about 2 o'clock the fire got a start in Such's Canyon and swept down the gorge with great fury.

A number of fine homes are in this canyon, among them being Professor Rieber of the Department of Philosophy.

PROFESSOR'S HOME.

Professor Rieber's neighbors

hurried to his rescue and every available means is being used to save the home.

At this writing it cannot be told whether the efforts will be successful.

WATCHING THE FIRE

Standing on top of the tallest building in Berkeley, observers were able to see that the great fire had been carried by the wind down past the ridge near Judge Garber's house across the Fish Ranch road.

MANY HOMES IN DANGER.

In this vicinity are a dozen splendid homes, all on a magnificent hillside, each representing many thousands of dollars, and it was feared that many of these might be destroyed unless assistance could be given the men who were trying to head off the flames before they should reach the rich section. The fine homes of James and Whitney Palache are in this all three of defendant railroads, and that all three are composed largely of the same persons, while the principal active officers of the Iron Mountain and Missouri-Pacific Companies are practically the same, and that at the last annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wabash Company, held in October, 1904, the plaintiff holding proxies and representing the Missouri-Pacific and Iron Mountain companies' holdings in the Wabash Company, as well as those of others, cast all of the ballots cast at the meeting, and elected the entire present board of directors of the Wabash Company.

THE RAILROADS.

"It also appears that while the defendant Wabash Company and the Missouri-Pacific Company have lines extending through various parts of the United States, that both of them have Missouri charters, and the most important portions of their Missouri lines are those extending across the State of Missouri from St. Louis to Kansas City and from Kansas City to St. Louis.

The plaintiff contends that the Wabash Railroad Company and the Missouri-Pacific Railroad Company are parallel and competing lines within the meaning of the provision of Section 17, Article 12, of the Constitution of Missouri, and of Section 1032 of the Missouri Statutes, and hence that the holdings of these securities of the Wabash Railroad Company by the Missouri-Pacific Company is illegal, and seeks by this bill filed herein to enjoin the voting of these securities at the meeting of the Wabash Company to be held October 10, upon the ground that they are illegally owned and will be voted so as to effectuate a purpose to stifle competition between the Missouri-Pacific and Wabash Companies in Missouri, and that he as a stockholder in the Wabash Company will be injured thereby. All of the defendants who have appeared or have been served, disavow such illegal purpose, and attack the good faith of the plaintiff's application. The court finds the record in this case so replete with evidence of violations of the provisions of certain of the Missouri laws enacted for the protection of the public that it has been loath to reach the conclusions herein.

WHAT RECORD SHOWS.

"The record develops the fact that at the annual election of the Wabash Company the plaintiff, Ramsey, held the proxies of the then and now owners of these very shares of stock, the voting of which he now seeks to have enjoined, voted all of them for the election of the very persons whom he now charges with, if elected, to conduct the property of the Wabash road as to not only violate the provisions of the laws of Missouri, but will also so conduct the same as to injure him. I am of the view that this action of the plaintiff is sufficient to compel the court to deny him the relief which he seeks in the absence of proof showing that something has transpired since the time of such voting of this stock by him which would indicate that the purposes of those who will be elected by the voting of this stock at the meeting to be held on the 10 of October will be different from those of the persons elected by the plaintiff.

"The order will therefore be that the rule heretofore made upon the defendants to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued will be vacated and plaintiff's application for a temporary injunction denied. (Signed) "DANIEL G. TAYLOR."

RAMSEY HEARS NEWS.

TOLEDO, October 9.—Joseph Ramsey, Jr., received from the Associated Press the first information of the denial of an injunction restraining the Gould interests from voting the stock held by the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain Companies at the annual election of the Wabash road to be held tomorrow, which practically means 140,000 shares against him in tomorrow's election.

When shown the dispatch he smiled pleasantly and remarked: "Well, this is the first that I have heard of it."

When asked if he had any statement to make Mr. Ramsey replied with a laugh: "There is nothing that I can say. The decision seems to speak for itself. Of course, this thing is not in any way decisive. It merely disposes of one trick in the game."

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

If Mr. Ramsey was surprised or disappointed at the decision his manner failed to show it. He seemed to take the action of the court as a matter which made very little difference to him in any way. None of the important members of the Gould interests have as yet arrived, with the exception of Col. Blodgett of St. Louis, the general counsel of the road, and he, like Mr. Ramsey, seemed to take the decision with no evidence of surprise.

"I guess that speaks for itself," he said. "There is nothing that I can say. I expected the decision and really do not see how it could have been anything else."

The application for the removal of three inspectors of election, Messrs. Reynolds, Colton and Newton, who have officiated at many annual meetings of the Wabash road, was argued for the greater part of the day in the Court of Common Pleas before Judge Kinkaid.

CONTROL THE VOTES.

These men by their power to pass upon all proxies submitted, practically control all the votes to be cast at the election and they have in addition the right to count the vote and certify to the result of the election. Mr. Ramsey, through his attorneys, claims that they are all employees of the Wabash road, and while they have been able to fulfill their duties in a satisfactory manner at previous elections, it was because there was then no contest and they were not called upon to decide close questions of legal rights to vote, as they must do in the present election. Because of their lack of education in this respect he claims that they are not competent and asks that the court appoint three disinterested inspectors to take their places.

Judge Kinkaid on Saturday declared that he saw no reason why three other inspectors should be appointed provided Mr. Ramsey could show that he represented one-tenth of the stock to be voted at the election.

SUBMITS NAMES.

This morning his attorneys submitted a list of names in addition to that of Mr. Ramsey with an affidavit that they were all holders of stock in the Wabash road, and in the aggregate represented much more than one-tenth of the capital stock. They asked that the attorneys for the Wabash road be compelled to bring into court the stock book of the railroad company to show that these men were actual stockholders, saying that there was no way of proving this fact unless the stock books were shown.

The attorneys of the Wabash road decided that they had not been served with proper notice to bring in the stock books and denied the power of the court in the matter of the appointment of inspectors because it lacked jurisdiction in that there was nothing to show the names appended to the affidavit were those of bona fide stockholders. It was admitted that Mr. Ramsey owned 100 shares of the common stock of the Wabash road and debenture bonds to the value of $50,000. Beyond this the list showed nothing they declared, and because it showed nothing the court was without jurisdiction in the premises.

The argument lasted for the greater part of the day.

MAY BE BURNED.

The property of J. Borbey on the hill a half mile from the University of California grounds is now surrounded by flames, and there seems to be small hope of saving it.

The family, with a number of volunteer firemen, are trying to keep back the flames. Their efforts seem doomed to failure.

Henry Rowe's picturesque house on University Terrace escaped the flames by a queer freak of the wind, which kept the blaze away just when it seemed that the place could not be saved.

SALOONMAN IS HIS VICTIM

CASHES A BOGUS CHECK AND HIS LOSS IS FIXED AT $14.

Andrew Fisher, a saloonkeeper, of 572 Seventh street, reported to the police this morning that he had cashed a check for a man giving the name of E. J. Curtis, last Saturday night, but that the check was not cashed by the bank. Fisher's loss was $14.

Curtis, as he calls himself, secured work at the Blackhawk livery stables and made the acquaintance of Fisher. The check was made payable to Curtis and was signed by W. T. Smith Company.

THREE FIRE ALARMS; NO GREAT DAMAGE.

The fire department responded to three alarms this morning but none of the buildings were of importance. An ash barrel in the rear of the residence of R. L. Knight, 122 Tenth street, was the cause of the first alarm.

The roof of the home of C. M. Sloan, 970 Center street, caught fire from a spark about $200 worth of damage was done before the arrival of the fire department. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

MRS. FITZGERALD HAS PASSED AWAY.

Mrs. Catherine Fitzgerald, a pioneer woman of this city, died last evening after an illness extending over a number of years. She was in her seventy-fourth year and had long been known among the most charitable ladies in the circle of acquaintances in which she moved. She bore her suffering with a great deal of fortitude, and this was aggravated by the recent death of her husband, who had attained the age of seventy-eight years. Mrs. Fitzgerald was the mother of four children, all of whom are well known in business circles in this city. They are David Fitzgerald, of 112 E. of Keller & Fitzgerald, Edward J. Fitzgerald, Thomas Fitzgerald and Margaret Fitzgerald. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning from the family home at 520 Twenty-fifth street. Exercises will be held in St. Francis de Sales Church.

PHYSICIAN CAUSES SALOONMAN'S ARREST.

John Rose, a saloonkeeper, was arrested this morning on a charge of an assault with a deadly weapon preferred by Dr. James F. Rinkhardt, who alleges he was knocked senseless last Saturday by the liquor man, as the result of a dispute over a bill.

WHEEL STOLEN FROM POLICE DEPARTMENT

Detective G. B. Parker of the Berkeley Police Department this morning recovered by search warrant proceedings before Acting Police Judge Geary a bicycle which had been sold to M. McDonald, a second hand dealer. The wheel was stolen from the Police Department of the college town last week. It was finally located in McDonald's store and a search warrant was issued.

BATTLING NELSON IS WINNER

Gains Victory in the Suit for Share in Moving Pictures.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 9.—Batling Nelson won a victory over James Coffroth, James E. Britt, the Moto Photo Company and Miles Bros. today when Judge Seawell granted his motion for the appointment of a receiver for the moving picture exhibit of the fight at Colma. The receiver, however, will only take charge of the property in this State and will not interfere with the exhibitions to be given outside the State. Judge Seawell denied the application for an injunction, holding that the pictures would decrease in value more from lying idle than from being exhibited.

Judge Seawell held as the complaint alleged that a partnership existed between Coffroth, Britt and Nelson, in which all were to share equally in the profits to be derived from the exhibition of the pictures. He said Coffroth had denied on the stand that such partnership existed, but admitted that he had told several parties that some sort of an understanding was in force.

Had the defendants filed an answer denying that any partnership existed they would have defeated the application for a receiver, said the court.

Judge Seawell thereupon appointed Marcus J. Kast of the Cosmos Club receiver. He is to file a bond for $10,000 which will be increased should he handle more than this amount of money. The court said the receiver was not to interfere with the plans of Coffroth for the exhibition, in this State, of the pictures, but was to take charge of all monies coming in and under his accounting to the court.

Coffroth, through his attorney, filed a notice of appeal and this afternoon will be ready to file a bond pending a decision.

PROBATE NOTES FROM COURT

MANY PETITIONS ARE HEARD IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.

The final account of John Freuler as executor of the will of the late Gaspar Koegel, was filed this morning and shows that he has collected and invested on behalf of the estate the sum of $26,342.99. The disbursements have amounted to $6,538.10. He asks for the distribution of the estate to the widow and daughters in accordance with the provisions of the will.

Petition for the confirmation of a sale of a piece of real estate belonging to the estate of the late Luigi Zanucchi, valued at $1700, has been filed with the courts. The land is situated on the county road leading from Dublin to Livermore, and contains twenty-three acres.

May J. Cooper has been appointed administratrix of the estate of the late John H. Cooper, and her bond fixed at $1850.

Judge Ogden this morning signed and approved the final account of H. B. Buchanan as administrator of the estate of his late father.

An order was made this morning directing W. M. Alexander, as executor of the will of the late Samuel T. Alexander, to pay into the County Treasury the sum of $16,400, being the amount of a number of contested claims against the estate.

ABOUT UNION MUSICIANS.

Oakland, Cal., October 9, 1905. Editor TRIBUNE, Dear Sir:—In your Saturday evening issue of October 7th, I see an article notifying members of the different unions not to patronize my hall, stating that I employed musicians not affiliated with them. I will state for the benefit of the writer and the public that I have never employed a non-union musician or allowed them to play in my hall in the three years I have had charge of it. The musicians I employ live in Oakland and are entitled to the work. I see my hall is the only one spoken of, notwithstanding the fact that all other halls in the city employ the same music that I do. These musicians belong to Local No. 20, International Musical Union affiliated with the American Labor union with headquarters in Oakland. It has also been stated that I would not rent my hall to any one who employed the other union musicians. That is positively false. My hall is for rent and they can employ any musical men they choose, just so they are union men. Respectfully, W. L. HOVEY.

OLD MAN SENT TO PRISON

HAS HALLUCINATION THAT SONS ARE STEALING HIS FRUIT.

Phillip Morgan, aged 72, and a resident of San Leandro, was taken to the Receiving Hospital this morning and later to the County Jail on a commitment of Justice of the Peace Black. It was found that Morgan was not an insane patient and that the commitment was one to the County Jail.

About a year ago Morgan had trouble with his family, and he was examined for insanity, and was discharged, but it is claimed he still has the hallucination that his sons are stealing his fruit from the ranch, and he has now been arrested and charged with disturbing the peace.

HAS NOT HEARD FROM LAWSON

GOVERNOR OF KANSAS IS NOT TO MAKE ANY MOVE.

TOPEKA, Kas., October 9.—Not a thing has come to me from Mr. Lawson about this New York Equitable matter about which I have read in the papers today," said Governor Hoch, "and consequently I have done nothing."

A New York newspaper wired Governor Hoch asking him what he would do about the Lawson invitation. The Governor replied that he had heard nothing and had nothing to say.

It is expected that C. H. Luling, superintendent of insurance, will at once take action on the letter sent out calling upon him to disbar the New York Equitable from the State.

INSANITY IS PLEA OF ACCUSED

Defaulting School Superintendent Will Not Confess.

PEORIA, Ill., October 9.—With the shadow of jail within sight, N. C. Dougherty, the defaulting school superintendent, this afternoon showed the first signs of collapse.

His former friends have refused to go on his bond, and it was stated today that as soon as the Grand Jury should finish its work he would be placed in jail.

For the first time since the exposure, Dougherty remained at his home today.

It is said on good authority that he will not confess, but will plead not guilty, and put up as a defense insanity, caused by a fall from a horse several years ago.

COMFORT IN THE HOME

The beautiful summer weather that we have been experiencing has doubtless made you somewhat indifferent regarding the necessity of agreeable warmth in your home.

Now it's time to think about it in earnest.

CITIES OF PACIFIC COAST SAFE FROM FOE

SECRETARY OF WAR TAFT.

So Says Secretary of War W. H. Taft and He Explains Why Its So.

NEW YORK, October 9.—"No foreign power could successfully assault our seaboard cities. With the present efficiency of our forts, rendered impregnable by the fire control system, the sweeping a zone that would bring annihilation to any fleet within range of the batteries of big guns, the seaboard cities are safe from foreign invasion," said Secretary of War William H. Taft yesterday. He returned Saturday enthusiastic from his visit to Fort Hamilton and Sandy Hook.

"To be sure a squadron could approach under the cloak of fog. In San Francisco, particularly, where fogs and dense weather prevail, the situation would offer more advantages to an attacking force.

"With the development of the torpedo and submarine systems, however, which has been satisfactory, and which will continue in keeping with appropriations for the purpose, Pacific Coast cities will be safe even should the elements favor the approach of an enemy. There are plenty of guns on the Atlantic seaboard to defend it, but there must be no diminution of artillery or change made in the plans to increase its strength."

Secretary Taft said that he would start some time about the first of November on his trip to Panama.

"I do not expect to spend more than three days on the isthmus this time," he said. "The President asked me to go, and I feel that it is necessary. The work meets our approval in a great many ways, but there is one phase of it which we believe could be improved and be improved at once. That is in providing quarters for the men we are sending down there, and in making these men comfortable. Mr. Wallace's idea was that our first work should be to find out how much dirt we could excavate in a given time and what it would cost.

"I believe the first thing to do is to see that the men down there are comfortable, and that when they get through a nine-hour day in the tropics, they shall have somewhere to go for amusement—have something to read, and won't be induced to take up brandy and soda. I shall examine very carefully the quarters that have been built already, and push this work along. I shall also see how the money has been spent down there."

Secretary Taft expects to meet his wife and family when they arrive on the steamer Kronos this morning, and to go to Washington later in the day.

INSURANCE MAN EXPRESSES DOUBT

NEW YORK, October 9.—William A. Fricke, superintendent in this city of the Central Union Life Insurance Company, of Cincinnati, expressed doubt yesterday that Insurance Superintendent Vandiver of Missouri would be able to make good his threat to cancel the license of the New York Life Insurance Company to do business in that State unless President John A. McCall resigned and the funds used for political campaign contributions were replaced. For two successive terms Mr. Fricke was insurance commissioner of Wisconsin. He said:

"I don't see how the State of Missouri can arbitrarily revoke the license of the New York Life Insurance Company to do business in that State on any such grounds as that mentioned in the letter written by Superintendent Vandiver to President McCall. No insurance commissioner has any such right. He can go in and investigate the affairs of a company doing business in his State at any time circumstances seem to justify such procedure. He can examine the directors of the company and its officials, and the company must defray the expenses, but only if such examination should disclose gross mismanagement can be order a re-organization, or decide that the company must do no further business in his State.

"It is only when an insurance commissioner upon examination finds a company to be insolvent that he can take such arbitrary action as is contemplated in Missouri.

"During the four years I was insurance commissioner of Wisconsin I took summary action to refuse licenses to or revoke licenses of forty-two companies. I have no doubt that any of these companies could have gone into court and had me enjoined had they not feared the publicity this would have involved. When I resigned during my second term I examined my records and found that of the forty companies I had proceeded against, thirty-six had failed."

Mr. Fricke told how at the annual convention of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners action was taken to investigate some of the larger companies by a committee composed of the commissioners from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Michigan and New York.

"Mr. McCall at that time told us all about the campaign contributions he had made, adding that he thought it in the interest of the policyholders. Nobody took issue with him. He knew also that Robert H. McCurdy had charge of the foreign business of the Mutual and that he was getting an extra large commission on it."

It was said yesterday that Senator Chauncey M. Depew might be a witness before the insurance investigating committee when its sessions are resumed this week.

BANQUET IN HONOR OF ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A banquet in honor of the President will be given by the Roosevelt Home Club on the forty-seventh birthday, October 27, in the room in which he was born, at 28 East Twentieth street. The President has been invited to be present.

The club is determined to preserve the house in which President Roosevelt was born and to maintain it as a national landmark. The club now numbers about three hundred members, and applications are being received daily from all parts of the country. It was organized on October 12, 1904, by twenty-five trustees of Mr. Roosevelt, and L. P. Glaser is the president.

C. D. Lowrie Wants Clemency Shown Him After He Goes to Prison.

WANT HELP IN PRISON.
'With this statement of what is in store for me, I submit to you the following: If at any time subsequent to my arrival at the State Prison my decease becomes imminent, would you, in consideration of the fact of having ture welfare Respectfully,

 'C. D LOWRIE,
 760 Washington Street, Oakland, Cal "

Lowrie's case came up this morning in court on a motion for a new trial, which was denied, and it is probable that the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court It is claimed by Attorney Hume that there is a walter who, on the night of April 27 last, was that Andrews and Lowrie were talking about a certain horse that had run on that day at the track and was to run again the next day, and that by the racing chart the date can be absolutely fixed. The motion, however, was denied by Judge Melvin this morning, and Hume must go to the Supreme Court with his motion if he would get another chance.

RIOTS END AT MOSCOW

GENERAL TREPOFF

Trepoff Hears of the Disorders in the Russian City.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 9.—General Treppoff, Assistant Minister of the Interior, has been informed by telephone from Moscow that no serious disorders occurred there last night and that the situation was slightly more reassuring this morning. The strike is spreading, however, and the authorities evidently are very apprehensive. They are hopeful, however, that the St. Petersburg workmen will not be affected.

A serious development at Moscow today was an attempt to interrupt railroad communication. The rails were tampered with a short distance from Moscow, causing the derailment of a train, but there were no casualties.

The Ministry of the Interior admits that three Cossack policemen were killed at Moscow yesterday, but the report telegraphed to the Russ that eight bakers were killed there yesterday turns out to be incorrect.

The main streets and squares of Moscow are occupied by police as well as by two regiments of grenadiers, a squadron of dragoons and eight squadrons of Cossacks.

The throwing of bombs at troops at Tiflis yesterday evening, which resulted in the soldiers firing on the people, appears to have been the outcome of a deliberately organized plot. Ten bombs were thrown simultaneously in the vicinity of three barracks in widely separated quarters of the city. Shots also were fired at the soldiers as they rushed out of the barracks, but the loss of life was confined to one Cossack and one bomb thrower. In addition, twenty persons were injured.

ORDER IS RESTORED.

MOSCOW, Oct. 9.—Order was restored in the streets at 11 o'clock last night.

It is officially announced that among the wounded are five Cossacks, four gendarmes and a number of policemen.

WESTERN PACIFIC PLANS

Engineers Are Now Working on Terminal Problem.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Western Pacific engineers are diligently engaged at the present time with the problem of how the company's extensive terminals at West Oakland should be laid out, and how its main line tracks that are to run along Third street in Oakland should cross the Southern Pacific's tracks on First street.

A surveying force of a dozen or more men has been at work for some days past making surveys at West Oakland with the view to solving these problems. At present the surveyors are at work at the foot of Union street and immediately adjoining the yard of the Southern Pacific Company. It is understood that one of the first matters that will receive the attention of the construction forces in that part of the city is the filling in of the marsh land that is eventually to serve as the Western Pacific's Oakland terminal, and surveys for the necessary tracks to be used in this work are being made.

As for the crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks at First street, it remains an undecided question whether the Western Pacific tracks should be carried overhead or in a subway. A grade crossing is said to be out of the question. Engineering data is being obtained by the men now at work at West Oakland by means of which Chief Engineer Dodge may decide the question. The Western Pacific tracks will run westward along Third street as far as Union, from which point they will run in a southwesterly direction to the shore of the estuary. The company has a franchise to lay its tracks on Third street westerly as far as Union street, south and west of which point the tracks will be built on property owned by the company. Owing to the short intervening distance between Third street and the Southern Pacific Company's tracks at First street a serious question of grades on the short approach to the crossing presents itself. Surveys for both overhead and a subway crossing are being made, but it is understood that the subway proposition is regarded as the more feasible.

The construction of the line through Oakland and eastward to Stockton is to be started at an early date. Construction will begin at the water front, as the company is planning to have all of its material delivered by water. Already large quantities of ties and other material are on the ground.

President P. J. Flannery, of the International Freight Handlers' Union appeared before the Truck Drivers' Local and explained the purpose of the shipping traders' alliance. The leaders regarded the plan to join forces with much favor when they were told by President Flannery that the sympathetic action of the freight handlers in the recent teamsters' strike would have at least prolonged that struggle.

A committee was appointed to confer with the freight handlers concerning the policy of the new federation. The commission wagon drivers of South Water street likewise named a committee to attend the conference.

MANY RESPOND.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—People from all over the United States and Canada heard Rev. Albert B. Simpson's annual plea for missions at the Gospel Tabernacle yesterday. At two services $80,265 was subscribed. The gifts of jewelry were confined to a gentleman's gold watch and a woman's wedding ring.

PARTY IN HONOR OF E. H. HARRIMAN

TOKIO, Oct. 9, 8 p. m.—Count Inouye will give a garden party tomorrow, October 10, at his artistic residence, in honor of Mr. E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad company. The guests upon the occasion will include the leading society people and business men of the city.

OAKLAND BOY IS DROWNED IN THE BAY

While on a Cruise John Wemmer Loses His Life and Harry Spiers Narrow Escape.

Not suspecting that their day's pleasure would be marred by an accident, ten young men ranging from the age of eighteen to twenty-two, left Oakland yesterday morning in the 33-foot sloop "Fawn."

About two o'clock in the afternoon they reached the southeast corner of Angel Island, and the treacherous undertow which sweeps through that channel knocked two of the boys, John Wemmer of 1776 Fifth street, and Harry Spiers of 1860 Fifth street, Oakland, into the water.

Wemmer was carried away by the swift tide and all efforts to reach him were unsuccessful. Had it not been for the prompt work of Harry Duthie, who resides at 374 Connecticut street, San Francisco, and who was on the sloop at the time the two boys were knocked off, Harry Spiers would not have been rescued, and it was only with great difficulty that he was revived.

The young men in the party were all apprentices at the Union Iron Works. "The Fawn" which is owned by Chris Wynnann, and chartered by several of the boys, was kept anchored near the works. On Sundays it was their custom to cruise around the bay, and anxious to take advantage of one of the last days of the closing yachting season, they set out for a sail yesterday morning. The course they took brought them around the northern end of the bay toward El Campo and it was while on their way home that they encountered the treacherous channel east of Angel Island.

There was a high sea and the boys wished to use the stiff breeze to make a good run. The "Fawn" was near the shore of the bay, and the boys were on the roof of the cabin while Duthie was at the helm. Suddenly the wind caught the mainsail and with terrific force the heavy boom swept toward the two boys on the roof of the cabin. They were attracted by the warning cries of their companions they were swept into the water.

Immediately Duthie rushed to the stern and jumped into the skiff which was following the "Fawn," severed the ropes that connected the two boats, and rowed to the spot where the two men were struggling for life. They were both stunned and almost unable to move for themselves.

Duthie lifted Spiers into the skiff with great difficulty. The skiff was too small to take another on board, and if it had been attempted probably all three would have been drowned. Suddenly Duthie saw him throw up his hands, with a cry, and disappear. I rowed about the spot where he sank for a long time, but saw nothing. After I had boarded the "Fawn" we discussed about, but with no better success.

MORE TIME FOR OAKLAND

BIG SHOWS WILL PLAY LONGER IN THIS CITY.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 9.—A large force of stage mechanics has been sent to this Coast by Klaw & Erlanger, head of the big theatrical syndicate, for the purpose of enlarging and remodeling the stages in the theatres of interior towns to permit the presentation of big spectacular productions. San Diego, Fresno, San Jose, Stockton, Sacramento, Oakland and Los Angeles are on the list.

Several of the big spectacles have not been sent to the Coast owing to the limited number of cities in which they could be presented. From the Missouri River it was Denver, Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Francisco, then a jump to Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Butte and St. Paul. To take an organization of 100 or more over the route meant an enormous outlay for transportation.

The present plan of Klaw & Erlanger is due to the wonderful success of "Ben Hur" two years ago. At that time the spectacle was brought from Salt Lake to San Francisco and thence to Portland. During the present season several of the big spectacles are to be sent to this city, and if they score successfully they are to tour the Pacific Coast. The first will be "Drury State," which will begin an engagement at the Grand on October 30. At its close it will fill engagements in the towns where the stages have been reconstructed to admit of its presentation.

Other attractions to follow are "Mother Goose," "Humpty Dumpty," "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," "The White Cat," "The Prince of India," and others. The Southern Pacific is to cooperate in the plan. It is the intention to divide up the State so that each city where the spectacles are presented through trains will be run at low excursion rates.

REPORTED TO POLICE.

When the "Fawn" reached the Union Iron Works the tragedy was reported to the police. A number of the young men in the party were from Oakland. They are: Charles Anderson, 1011 Pine street; John Silver, 525 Pine street; McKarley, 1871 Pine street; Manuel Alameda, 1871 Fifth street; Dennis Nolan, 113 Chase street; all of West Oakland; Harry O'Leary, who resides on Tennessee street, near Eighteenth street, San Francisco, and Edward McKarley, of 1601 Twentieth street, San Francisco. Spiers undoubtedly owes his life to Harry Duthie, who is a young man twenty years of age. In speaking of the unfortunate sail yesterday Duthie said:

"Early in the morning Ed McKarley, Harry O'Leary and myself went aboard the 'Fawn' at her mooring place, off the Union Iron Works. We sailed for Oakland, picked up our guests and set out on a pleasure cruise. After running about at random for some time we decided to make for El Campo. After we had covered part of the distance, however, we saw we weren't going to make it without delaying our return trip until late, and so put about. We had been some twenty minutes on the return trip and had reached a point off Bluff Point, Angel Island, when the accident occurred. I was at the wheel, and the boys were scattered about the boat. Wemmer was aft, sitting on the edge of the house. We were running at a fair rate, when he suddenly ploughed into a bunch of swells. As we breast a heavy one the 'Fawn' took about and the boom swung around."

"It came with tremendous force and, striking Wemmer, knocked him overboard. As it came back Spiers, who had jumped to his feet thinking to assist his friend, was caught across the back and himself thrown into the water. I had seen them both go, and my first thought was of the skiff which trailed behind us."

"Pulling it close in, I got aboard and dropped the heavy. Spiers was nearest me, and as some of the boys shouted that he could not swim I made for him. I reached his side and succeeded in pulling him half drowned into the skiff. Knowing that the light craft could not possibly hold three of us, I rowed back to the yacht. There I left Spiers and returned for Wemmer. I could see him as he was tossed up and down on the swells."

"A heavy sea was running and I could make but little headway against it. I must have been fifty feet away when I heard him cry for me to help him. I pulled as hard as I could, watching him over my shoulder. Then suddenly he laid on his back, threw up his hands, with a cry, and disappear. I rowed about the spot where he sank for a long time, but saw nothing. After I had boarded the 'Fawn' we discussed about, but with no better success."

ROVERS LOSE TO HORNET TEAM.

The Oakland Hornets, the oldest existing football eleven in California, trotted on to Peralta Park, Oakland, yesterday morning and took a fall out of the clever Alhambra Rovers team to the extent of three goals to one.

The Albions played without their captain, but played a rattling game nevertheless. McRitchie, guardian of the Hornets' goal, was too good at the game to let more than one shot pass him, while Elliot, Mackenzie and Chambers kept the Albions' defense on the move all through the first half. Duquesne and MacGregor taking over the brunt of the attacking in the second half.

In the second half Martin retired on account of a twist in the thigh, and on account of the first half Duquesne and MacGregor taking over the brunt of the attacking in the second half.

BALL GAMES IN STATE LEAGUE.

SAN JOSE, October 9.—San Francisco played all around San Jose on the ball field yesterday afternoon and won by a score of 6 to 2. The local team played sleepy and poor ball. Arellanes pitched a good game, striking out thirteen, but he was not given good support. The feature of the game was a home run by Peterson of San Francisco. F. Bodie and Radford were the battery for San Francisco and F. Arellanes and Kent for San Jose.

San Francisco 6, San Jose 2. STOCKTON, October 9.—Stockton defeated the Fresno team yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. It was a hotly contested game throughout. Ferguson and Myers were both in excellent form. In the eighth inning, with the score 1 to 0 against him, Ferguson cleared the bases with a two-bagger into deep left, winning his own game. Score: Fresno 4, Stockton 3.

Presidio 3, San Jose 4. Batteries: Myers and Stanley; Ferguson and McMurray.

Confidential Chat With Young Men

We won't call you Boys, for when you discard knee pants and put on the first pair of Long Trousers you cut Boy off the list and are entitled to the cognomen of "Young Man"—Now, young man, we have created a new department for your special benefit. In this department we make a special display of Suits in sizes from 13 to 20 years—typical clothes for young men who want their clothes right—among them COLLEGE BRAND CLOTHES—swagger, nobby, swell garments with the College air and cut.

We price Suits in this department as low as $7.50. Then $10.00, and up to $20.00. We extend a cordial invitation to every young man in Alameda County to call and see this new Department.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

W. F. DARGIE, President

Business Office and Publishing House, 413-417 Eighth St., Oakland.

An Effort to Block Progress.

Ever since the beginning of attempts to improve the bay shore water front of Oakland there has been an agitation in this city hostile to such improvement. All the improvements up to date have been in defiance of this agitation and despite the legal and political obstacles interposed to prevent the water front being utilized and made available for commercial and rapid transit purposes. The city has spent large sums to establish a title, which it had parted with years before, to a property which it could, under no circumstances, develop in fifty years. For two decades opposition to the occupation and utilization of the water front diverted municipal activities from the improvement of the city, and retarded growth and development.

During the last few years the water front agitation has ceased to be active, but unfortunately an effort is being made to revive it and make it an issue in local politics. A more ill-advised, short-sighted movement can hardly be imagined. Thus far the agitation has done much harm in the way of staving off and preventing water front improvements, but not a pennyworth of good, unless the fees paid to lawyers can be said to have been a benefit. Certainly the public has paid a good round sum for bucking water front improvement without deriving the slightest benefit from the proceeding. Does this community desire to again go through the costly and abortive experience of the past?

Between the shore line and deep water on the bay front there is an expanse of mud flats, from two to three miles wide, covered at high tide by water from one to fifteen feet deep and partially exposed at low tide. It is necessary to extend moles or trestles at enormous expense across this vast stretch of mud flats in bringing ship and car together. The State will not build these moles and trestles, nor construct wharves, docks and slips for the accommodation of shipping. The City of Oakland is not financially able to make harbor improvements on such a vast scale, and will not be for generations to come. Besides, the net result of the long litigation which has cost the municipality so dearly has been to have it judicially declared that the water front does not belong to the city, but is the property either of the State or the city's assigns. The city's assigns have made all the improvements up to date on the bay shore, and are now projecting other improvements of great cost and magnitude, which will enormously add to Oakland's port facilities and increase her commercial greatness.

A renewal of the water front agitation of the past can only accomplish the result of preventing these projected improvements and putting another stumbling block in the path of the city's progress and development as a deep sea port. The older inhabitants of Oakland can recall what an advantage to the city the building of the broad-gauge mole was. The narrow-gauge mole was a double advantage to the city, for the material for the fill was dredged out of the harbor channel at private expense. The channel to the inner harbor was thus improved without cost to the Government, and the construction of the mole paved the way for the elegant and commodious ferry depot now nearing completion. In passing, it is worthy of note that the depot would have been completed more than a year ago but for the ill-timed and unwise agitation in Alameda against renewing the Southern Pacific's franchises.

Oakland wants the bay front improved and made available for deep sea commerce. She should be thankful to anybody who will make needed improvements which will transform the stinking waste of mud flats into a hive of commerce and manufacturing. These improvements will cost many millions, and therefore can only be made by great transportation corporations, that must look to the future for their profit and recompense. Nor is the question of ultimate ownership determined by making such improvements. The principle of adverse possession cannot be invoked against the State, while blocking the projected improvements is simply continuing indefinitely the embargo on Oakland's commercial growth that nature established when the mud flats were formed.

Assemblyman Mitcheltree's haziness as to names raises the presumption that Pat Crowe got the prize fight boodle.

While Leslie M. Shaw is telling the Virginia Republicans to stand pat on the tariff and throw the "nigger" overboard, the Massachusetts Republicans have committed lese majeste against Henry Cabot Lodge by declaring for tariff revision. This looks as if President Roosevelt would have to exert his powers as a pacificator in the near future to get the Republicans in a frame of mind to stand together on one platform. In Ohio, Senator Foraker seems to have harmonized with Governor Herrick and Senator Dick by getting out of tune with the White House. The Republican leaders ought to hold a peace congress.

Secretary Taft appears to be gaining the reputation of being the primed mouth as well as the primed ear of the Administration.

Grover Cleveland's efforts to prevent the women from voting seems to have enlarged the feminine capacity for talking. Some men would prefer that the women vote and talk less.

OAKLAND SUPERIOR TO LOS ANGELES.

By any comparison, Oakland is so far superior to Los Angeles as a place of residence, that Californians make no mistake in selecting between them. So are a hundred other lesser cities in Alta California, and as for rural homes, the fertile hills and valleys of Santa Clara, Alameda and Contra Costa, in fact, of the entire region around the Bay are so infinitely superior to the wind swept sand dunes of Los Angeles that if Easterners would investigate before purchasing, there would be a slump in the price of cactus lands that would jar the real estate men of the South with such force as to loosen their teeth.

That newcomers to the State do not investigate, that they are content to buy the worst rather than the best in California, is largely the fault of the communities in the more favored sections, which have stood idly by and watched the South successfully boom its inferior land and climate to the injury of the investors and to the detriment of the rest of the State.—Bakersfield Californian.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Love that lacks simplicity isn't love.

He who says nothing is never misquoted.

Gossips and phonographs repeat everything they hear.

A smile that can be bought for a dime is soon swallowed.

A bigamist is never free from worry until he finds himself behind the bars.

A rolling stone gathers no moss—but moss-backs are not attractive anyway.

There is something wrong with the woman who will cry over a pathetic baby story, then spank her own children because they make so much noise she can't read.—Chicago News.

GENIUS IN A FLAT.

Now, my lay is of a lady with a literary turn,
Who found a most alluring little flat—

There were certain regulations, quite sensible and stern,
That promised peace and quiet—think of that!

"We never take a tenant of the sort that wouldn't suit,"

The agent stated squarely at the start,

"All irritating practice of piano, voice and flute,

Would be followed with the notice to depart."

So she settled soon, delighted with her pretty paradise,

And began a work of wisdom on the spot

That called for steady thinking, most subtle, we surmise,

Since it strove with what is so and what is not.

Then, securely in the saddle, she was making literature,

When a flatter freely blew into his flute,

While a basso roared above her—she couldn't that endure—

To the pounding of piano by the brute.

"But Madam," quoth the agent, when she did her grievance take,

"The flutist—surely you should praise bestow—

You couldn't call it 'practice'—he's the celebrated Blake—

And the singer—why, that's Signor Allegro!"

You should count yourself quite lucky—they do it every day,

And each night another treat of talent brings—

There's Professor Rant the reader, who just now is away—

He gives 'The Bells,' and other brilliant things.

"The rules and regulations you'll find to be in force—

It's the ordinary playing we prevent our flats, we feel, are famous—for celebrities, of course—

In fact, it would be right to raise the rent."

—Robert Pinly, Boston Transcript.

BELIEVES IN CHINESE EXCLUSION.

To the Editor TRIBUNE—Sir: It is my humble opinion that the welfare and future prosperity of the American people depends to a great extent on the exclusion of the Chinese and all people of their character.

Any class of people who cannot learn the English language, adopt the customs and become part of the political unity of these United States are a menace to its freedom, its economical progress and its moral development.

The Chinese standard of morals, their mode of living and their customs preclude their ever becoming citizens of the United States. But even should these objections be overcome, the antipathy of the white race for the yellow will ever bar the way.

Their cheap labor tends to lower the standard of wages in this country and that means the lowering of the standard of living.

It seems to me that those who are in favor of admitting the Chinese are either actuated by personal profit or believe in the distinction of classes that is the distinction of master and servant. Respectfully yours,

CHARLES J. HODOWAL,
517 Oakland Avenue

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCabe are away on an automobile trip.

TEACHER SUSPENDED BECAUSE SHE IS TO BECOME A BRIDE

NEW YORK, October 9.—Friends of Miss Etta Sturtz, a pretty teacher in Public School No. 77, at First Avenue and Eighty-sixth street, who recently announced that she was soon to become a bride, are indignant over a letter which she recently received from District Superintendent John L. N. Hunt, suspending her without salary until the next meeting of the Board of Education, and in which it was intimated that charges would be preferred against her.

Mrs. Max Sturtz, mother of the young woman, declared last night at her home, No. 423 Central Park West, that her daughter would vigorously defend her position. She said:

"My daughter is to be married the latter part of October to Mr. Harris, of Yonkers. There can be no other charges against her.

"A short time before school opened this fall she obtained from Miss Mathilda Lemlein, superintendent of the primary grades of Public School No. 77, a leave of absence to prepare for her wedding, and this letter from Superintendent Hunt followed immediately. We asked what charges were to be made, but received no explanation.

"While my daughter will probably not teach again, she does not care to leave the work, in which she has served faithfully for seven years, under a cloud."

Miss Cora Wylen, who became Mrs. Horn recently, and who is now on her honeymoon, is another teacher who was suspended without pay and who will face charges before the Board of Education Tuesday night.

Good value in odd skirts are to be had now for $3.95.

REV. ROBERT WHITAKER SAYS:

"THERE ARE JUST ABOUT AS MANY FOOLS IN PANTS AS THERE ARE IN PETTICOATS.

"IF YOU CAN'T TELL A WOMAN BY WHAT SHE WEARS, YOU CAN TELL HER OFTEN BY THE WAY SHE SIZES UP WHAT THE OTHER WOMAN WEARS."

At the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. Robert Whitaker, gave last evening the second in the series of sermons on The Girl Problem, speaking last night on The Problem of Dress.

After reading the words of Jesus in Matthew VI, 28, "And why take ye thought for raiment?" Mr. Whitaker said:

"Eve was the first dressmaker, but she fell far short of being the last. Whether she did more mischief by eating of the forbidden fruit or by her debut as a dressmaker it would be hard to say. Some curious masculine statistician has reckoned that in the average American household one-third of the time is occupied in the cleansing of clothes, and at least another third in the buying, making and mending of clothes. The same statistician gallantly declines to reckon how many women, by this order of things, become 'merely galvanized dummies for the display of clothes,' 'gilded swaths enclosing shriveled kernels and dusty hollowness.'

"It is a good deal easier for men to smile at women's clothes, or sneer at them, than it is to talk sense about them. So far as my observation goes in the matter of clothes there are, according to the opportunity, just about as many fools in pants as there are in petticoats.

"Jesus said very little about clothes. What He did say was neither cynical nor comical. The rebuke in His words applied as much to men as to women. He was too much of a man to make light of women.

"The problem of clothes is more pressing with regard to girls than boys, because girls' clothes are more various, more often home-made, and call for more laundrying at home. Girls are bound to think more about clothes than boys. The thing to do is to see that they think right.

"No reasonable girl can be persuaded that clothes are of no consequence. It isn't true. They are of large consequence to the health, honor and happiness of every woman.

"So far as healthfulness is concerned, women's clothes were never so sensible as they are today. There is no such crunching of the waist, no such weighting of the hips as in other days. Fashion and Folly still keep step, but Good-sense has gotten between them, and is crowding Folly off the sidewalk into the street. Teach the girls that there is no Beauty Doctor, and no other doctor like Good-sense.

"If you can't tell a woman by what she wears you can tell her often by the way she sizes up what the other woman wears. Sometimes she shows a good deal more in her eyes than she sees with them. Yet measuring a woman by her clothes is not wholly void of sense. Fine feathers don't make fine birds, but neither do pin feathers. Some good people seem to forget that Jesus said, 'Consider the lilies,' whose beauty exceeds Solomon's glory, and talk as if He had said, 'Consider the eucalyptus,' which is always about half undressed. Yet even the eucalyptus would be ashamed of the unnecessary shabbiness of some good women. The slatternly woman is an insult to her sex. The women who overdo it on the street are nearly always slatterns at home. There is as much opportunity for honesty in dress as there is for honesty in business. A girl should be taught to hate hypocrisy of every kind, and especially the silken sheen that hides soiled and tattered underwear. A woman can't wear lies without the falsehood getting inside.

"Every girl ought to know the cost of clothes, both what they cost in labor, and in opportunity. Men sometimes drink possible palaces, and women sometimes wear possible temples and hospitals, or both. The women of the South gave their clothes for bandages. A like devotion on the part of Christian women would work wonders for the kingdom of God among men. No dress is justifiable beyond the point of a good investment for the social welfare.

"Many a woman has been murderously smothered to death in her own clothes. Teach the girls to see to it that heart, and intellect, and life itself are not smothered in silk and satin. Keep your clothes in your closet, don't hang them all over the parlor furniture. And keep them also in the background of your life, don't let them have the front room. There is no need of hanging them out in the backyard, but it were better to do this than let them have the whole house.

"It is said every woman is a queen. So be it. No queen can afford to be either a scarecrow or a mere fashion form. A queen is still a queen when dressed simply, but a fool is even more a fool in finery."

OAKLAND MINISTER TELLS THE KIND OF MEN TO MAKE A MODERN HOME

Rev. H. J. Vosburg, of the First Baptist Church, preached last evening the second sermon in a series on "Home-Making in Modern Life," the subject being "The Kind of Men to Make a Modern Home." He said in part:

THREE KINDS OF MEN.

"There are three kinds of men who cannot make a home, and are not worthy of a place in it.

"First, is the libertine. He is a blot upon society and does not deserve a place among good men and women. The double standard of morals is pernicious. To have one rule of morality for men and another for women is a gross evil in itself, and eventually leads to the degradation of women and the deterioration of the human stock. The moral leper, therefore, should be segregated from all good men and women.

"Second, is the bear, of whom there are two kinds, sullen bear and the silent bear. The sullen bear is the man who sings, 'There is no place like home,' by which he means there is no great self-sacrifice, to furnish the means for maintaining the home. They bring into it love and wisdom, as well as money. Their character is an inspiration to the household. If such men are relatively few, they are all the more worthy of distinct recognition.

WHAT HE SHOULD DO.

"Turning to the positive side of the subject, some of the characteristics of the man to make a modern home are as follows: He should have a broad

NOURISH LOVE.

"Love needs to be nourished, kind words keep it fresh and vigorous, but in the cold atmosphere of silence it loses heart and languishes and finally, perchance, may die.

"Third, is the loafer. By the loafer is not meant the man who loiters about and does not oppose the insidious evils of the community. The man who sits idly in the fancied security of his home, and does not see the need of the day need not be surprised if these evils invade and destroy his household. Above all, he should be a Christian man who can 'allure to brighter worlds and lead the way.' The ideal father is the one who can become the spiritual father of his children."

Procuring a gun he returned to the house and demanded his daughter. Reluctantly the door was opened and the daughter rushed into the arms of her fond parent. The new son-in-law made a dash for liberty. With the aid of neighbors the youthful accomplices to the abduction were captured. Conclude, and I don't know what she can do."

KIDNAPPER GIVES UP GIRL BRIDE AT GUN POINT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., October 9.—Chester Whidden, a young man of Gardner, Fla., just entering manhood, fell desperately in love with his cousin, Etta Whidden, a pretty miss of fourteen, who lived in the same town. The young lady, however, did not return his affection. So with the help of sympathizing friends he decided to kidnap her from her home.

With the assistance of his brother, Curtis, and Lamb and Cyril McClelland, the young lady was induced last week to go to Zolfo, where Justice H. M. High made the young man happy. The girl tearfully returned with her newly made husband to his home in Gardner. About this time theirate son-in-law was found on the trail of his new son-in-law and found them with the door barricaded.

The careful house mother will see that her children have slippers or special shoes for house wear. A good pair of walking shoes will, of course, wear twice as long if worn only on outdoor excursions and the saving of expense will more than pay the cost of cheaper house shoes or slippers. The constant use of heavy boots is also a bad thing for rugs and carpets.

SIX FEROCIOUS DOGS FOUGHT BY LONE WOMAN

DENVER, October 9.—Attacked by six furious dogs; bitten in several places and only escaping through the prompt assistance of J. R. Bell, Mrs. Charlotte J. Godsmen, a teacher in the Edison School, was near death last Tuesday afternoon.

Holding one arm over her throat to prevent the savage beasts from securing a death hold, Mrs. Godsmen desperately fought off the animals with the other arm, which time and again the dogs seized in frenzied efforts to pull their victim to the ground.

Wary with the exertion and faint from the pain of her wounds, Mrs. Godsmen was on the point of giving up the struggle when J. R. Bell, principal of the Edison School, rushed to her assistance, scattering the dogs. Mrs. Godsmen was bitten in the calf of the left leg and her left hand was almost torn to pieces. In warding the animals from her throat she struck the beasts with her clenched fist, and one large collar fastened his fangs in the fleshy part of the hand between her thumb and forefinger, leaving a lacerated and painful wound. Although the wounds were cauterized by Dr. Craig, house physician at St. Luke's Hospital, there is fear of blood poisoning.

place where he so freely exhibits his ill-temper as in the home.

PLEASANT AT BUSINESS.

"At business he is pleasant because it is financially advantageous to be so, but at home his helpless wife and children must suffer from the ill-temper that he is too cowardly to expose in public life. The silent bear says nothing, and so the hearts of those he professes to love are allowed to droop and pine.

IN THE CLUBROOMS OF GREAT PLAY AT THE TURN OF LIFE

What a Visitor Saw When He Went to the Gymnasium of Tractation Employees.

The following article appears in Trolley Talk for October. It is of interest to all street car men:

"OUR CLUBROOMS AS SEEN BY A VISITOR."

A few evenings ago, when returning to my home on an electric car after a hard day's work, I spied a small magazine lying on the seat, and as it did not appear to be the property of anyone, I picked it up, and on looking it over, found it was a copy of "Trolley Talk," issued by the Oakland Tractation Club. I scanned its contents and was much impressed with the manner in which it was arranged, and also with the tone and style of the articles contained therein, from the editorials to the smallest personal items.

It occurred to me that a club of which such a paper was an auxiliary was worthy of a visit, and I inquired of the conductor if strangers were allowed. I had evidently struck his hobby, as he turned out to be a most enthusiastic member of the organization. He said, "We want every Oaklander to visit our club; we want it talked about; we want it advertised. It shall be only too glad to have you visit it and will esteem it a favor if you will be my guest some evening at the club rooms." The invitation was no sooner given than accepted, and the following Thursday evening I spent one of the most pleasant hours of my life in viewing the spacious and elaborate club rooms so generously donated by the Tractation Consolidated to its employees. I was informed that for an initiation fee of $2 and the payment of fifty cents a month, any employee of the company was entitled to membership.

For the information of subscribers and readers of "Trolley Talk," I will endeavor to give a brief description of the interior arrangements of the building, and the various sources of recreation and instruction therein provided.

Entering the building, I found myself in a spacious hallway, the walls of which were adorned with gems of art, beautifully framed. On the floor was a profusion of potted palms, artistically arranged, and set off to best advantage by the electric lights, the whole conveying a homelike foreboding of what was yet to come.

TEN PINS.

I heard a rumbling sound, accompanied by peals of hearty laughter, and looking ahead I saw a crowd of men participating in and enjoying the healthy exercise afforded by the game of ten pins. Being a devotee of the game myself, I started down and watched the progress of the game. The various players were pointed out to me, and I learned that men from all departments of the company were playing, some of them being officials. I was at once struck with the good nature and good will which prevailed, all meeting on a common level, and I thought that right here was an opportunity for men to meet apart from the humdrum experiences of everyday work, correct wrong impressions previously formed of one another by seeing the true character of the men, as here presented.

Reluctantly I tore myself away, retracing my steps and stopping at the foot of the broad stairway, fit to grace the palace of a king, long enough to note the convenient arrangement of the very best of the modern, and the stand at which cigars, tobacco and soft drinks can be purchased for the same prices as at downtown stores.

Slightly climbed the stairway, and arrived at the top, where a slight rest itself, bringing forth the involuntary expression, "This is a veritable fairyland!" The same profusion of palms, in addition to potted plants and hanging baskets, met my gaze, setting off to the very best advantage the heavy open-pilastered partitions of colonial style which divided the rooms, and all paintings were again everywhere in view.

GYMNASIUM.

Turning to the left, immediately back of the stairway is the gymnasium, without a doubt the finest in Oakland. A narrow hall runs its entire length at a slight elevation, forming the northern boundary of the door, and to the left of the hallway are located the lavatory, shower baths and locker room, with everything modern and up to date in every respect. With regard to the gymnasium, which is provided with all the modern gymnasium apparatus, words of mine cannot do it justice. Around the walls, neatly arranged, are the dumbbells, Indian clubs, and all forms of machines for the development of the muscles of the arms and back, and the running bags and boxing gloves are in evidence, and the floor space, which covers considerable area, is furnished with suitable horses, wrestling mats and horizontal bars and pull bars, while suspended above are Roman rings and climbing ropes and ladders. Apparently nothing has been overlooked, and one is impressed with the lofty, airy and well-lighted gymnasium, and the good order that prevails, there being a place for everything and everything in its place.

Returning home on the car, my thoughts went surging back through the ages to the days of Ancient Greece and Rome, and I recalled that history tells us that when at the zenith of their fame they were peopled by a race of athletes, all well formed, finely muscled men. History tells us that it was not until their sports became debauched, their morals lax and their physique impaired, that their descent and fall was rapid.

Coming down to more modern times, the history of Great Britain, which for countless generations has been the history of the world, teaches us that its people are devotees of all forms of athletic exercise.

And now, the present, the rapid rise of the young giant, our own America, fills me with a sense of awe and admiration—destined to become, if not the peer of any nation on the face of the earth.

We, the people, must see that we fit ourselves to maintain our supremacy. It is a truism as old as the hills that a healthy mind and body are in an unhealthy body. Let us follow the splendid example of the Athletic Club Executive of this great nation and develop our minds and bodies.

Tractation Consolidated will take advantage of the opportunity presented by the club to develop themselves along the right lines. We all have parts to play in making the standard of this country, and the railway boys, who are congratulated on their beautiful club rooms and the splendid opportunity for fitting themselves for the strenuous life.

MISS BARRYMORE AT MACDONOUGH

WILTON LACKAYE WILL PLAY FOUR NIGHTS AT THE LOCAL THEATER.

Even without the name of Barrymore on the billboards, the play "Sunday" would attract favorable comment from audience and critics alike. With Ethel Barrymore and the tradition of the family name added, there is reason for the increase in interest and prices in the coming "Sunday" to the Macdonough theater tonight, and tonight only.

Miss Barrymore has been appearing across the bay at the Columbia Theater and she has, according to public and press, scored a personal triumph.

She has the family talent of course, but that's not all, for, in "Sunday," she has a vehicle to carry her unaffected simplicity and girlishness. And simplicity is an asset to Miss Barrymore's success as an actress.

There are those who will witness "Sunday" at the Macdonough Theater tonight for the reason and only reason that with Ethel Barrymore and the tradition of the family name added, there is reason for the increase in interest and prices in the coming "Sunday" to the Macdonough theater tonight, and tonight only.

"JANICE MEREDITH" WILL BE SEEN AT THE POPULAR PLAYHOUSE.

Edythe Chapman Neill, as Paul Leicester Ford's heroine, "Janice Meredith," is the attraction at Ye Liberty Playhouse this week. This great story of the Revolution will be staged with much beauty.

The story makes a strong play.

It is the kind of play that thrills the blood.

James Neill will be seen as Charles Fennell, who is afterwards known as Colonel Jack Brereton, the dauntless hero who loves the irresistible Janice. The Taft and Pennoyer Mutual Aid Association give their theater party to see the Neills tomorrow night. St. Mary's Parish are to have a benefit performance at this playhouse next Thursday evening, to aid their building fund.

As soon as he discovered that he had no calling as a painter he determined upon literature as his future occupation and entered the University of California. He took a special course in literature as a post-graduate at Harvard. It was at this time that he utilized his spare moments in writing "McTeague."

After Mr. Norris' return from Cambridge he engaged in newspaper and magazine work. The San Francisco Chronicle sent him to South Africa to report the Jameson raid of 1895 and 1896. During 1896 and 1897 he was editor of the San Francisco News, a weekly journal which had considerable influence upon his management. The following year he went to New York to engage in editorial and other work on McClure's Magazine and was sent as its special correspondent to Cuba in 1898. He then returned to San Francisco, where he accepted the position of literary adviser which he held at the time of his death. In connection with this work he spent four years of the author's life were spent on his great work, that vast undertaking entitled "The Wheat."

"The Pit" will be played three nights commencing Wednesday, October 11th, with a matinee Saturday, and on Saturday night. Seats on sale today.

BRIDE FEARED TO POSTPONE WEDDING

Frank L. Mayfield and Saida E. Kenfield were married Saturday evening, but not before she had passed a bad half hour in which she fainted because her dilatory husband had neglected to get the license until after the County Clerk's office had closed. She feared the ceremony would have to be postponed until Monday, but by dint of searching Deputy County Clerk Glover was located and a license issued. They were married by the Rev. E. R. Dille at the home of the bride's mother, at 569 Twentieth street.

J. S. KNOWLES DEAD.

Word was received here last night of the death in Seattle yesterday of Josiah S. Knowles, son of Mrs. Mary Knowles, and formerly one of the best known residents of San Leandro, in this county. The deceased was a native of Massachusetts, and was in his forty-fifth year.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Troubles, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent Eastern cities by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, in the form of chronic stomach trouble. The failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another, I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, without any marked improvement."

"Friends had often advised me to try a well known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy, but never had any stock in what they said. I could not believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case. To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort."

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure completely and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia."

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were aspartic peptin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach and the liver. The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nervous system a rest, and the result is a new and whole system to receive the nourishment which can only come from food. Stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of food, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums."

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years, probably every sufferer in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for It. Two Relate Their Experience.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason. Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain. When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dizziness, fainting, tremors in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and incontinence, and dizziness, are promptly needed by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are all just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried thousands of women safely through this crisis.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I had been suffering with falling of the womb for years and was passing through the Change of Life. My womb was badly swollen; my stomach was sore; I had dizzy spells, sick headaches, and was very nervous. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeded Where Others Fail.

"During change of life women cannot express what I suffered. My physician said I had a cancerous condition of the womb. One day I read some of the testimonials of women who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it and to write you for advice. Your medicine made me a well woman, and all my bad symptoms soon disappeared."

"I advise every woman at this period of life to take your medicine and write you for advice."—Mrs. Lizette Hinkle, Salem, Ind.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle it will do for any woman at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

RUSS HALL IS TO HANDLE SEATTLE.

SEATTLE, Wash., October 9.—Russ Hall will manage the Seattle team next year—a fact which the directors have let the public know without making an official announcement to that effect. The directors started off this year with instructions to keep down expenses. They concede that Hall did not have the money and could not be judged by his first season's efforts to keep out of the cellar. He has rounded up a team that at least knows the rudiments of the game.

The backers of the Seattle team feel that the northern clubs are spending too much money to carry their teams on long early and late-season engagements in the South. So far as Seattle is concerned, there is a disposition to join with the other northern teams in an ultimatum that the schedule must be revised and more attention given the North if they stay in it; another period. The North, they say, can organize alone, while California has not so many good towns.

AGAINST DRASTIC MEASURES

CHAIRMAN OF INSURANCE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE SAYS TO WAIT.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., October 5.—

Senator Armstrong, chairman of the Insurance Investigating committee, left for New York last night on insurance matters. Before leaving, Chairman Armstrong issued this statement:

"I regret very much to see other States apply drastic remedies in advance of action in this State. Our committee was appointed to investigate conditions in the insurance business and propose remedial legislation. I sincerely hope other States will wait until we have had an opportunity to complete our work."

"These insurance companies are perfectly solvent and are able to carry out every contract they have made or may make. There is no reason for refusing to permit them to continue to do business. If Nevada proposes to do one thing, Missouri another thing, and some other State still another thing, there will be a chaotic condition of affairs. I believe there is due at least the courtesy to New York State to wait until the investigation is completed, and our remedial legislation is applied."

"Our committee will make the most thorough investigation possible, and when we are through we shall make it our business to adopt such legislation as will safeguard the policyholder."

ers and make the insurance business safer and sounder and more attractive than it has ever been before. If other States jump in before we can complete our work, or can adopt any legislation, everything will be confusion in the insurance business of the country.

"Another point: When a number of Western insurance commissioners were in New York recently we had a conference with them and we promised to submit to them for their suggestion what remedial legislation it was proposed to adopt. In this way we hope to secure uniform action in all the States. It is not right for other States to take action after our committee has been at work only four weeks, and long before we have reached the end of our investigation. Any action they might take at this time would be premature."

"Our committee was not appointed to tear down the insurance business of the country, but to build it up. We are simply tearing down some of the rotten timbers to get the right foundation on which to build. We are trying to do this work man-fashion, thoroughly and conscientiously. It is not a pleasant task at best, but we are not dodging, and shall not dodge any responsibility. The insurance body is sound, but it is afflicted with some ulcers. We are performing a surgical operation for the removal of these ulcers from the body, not trying to kill the insurance body, because we have discovered some rottenness; it is not right for outside States to cripple the insurance business and handicap our efforts."

CALIFORNIA'S VARSITY FAILS TO SCORE AGAINST TEAM FROM WILLAMETTE

BERKELEY, Oct. 8.—There was no score in the game last Saturday between the Varsity eleven, of the University of California, and the Willamette University team of Oregon. Neither goal was in imminent danger for more than a few minutes at any stage of the game. Several needless fumbles at critical times which in each instance resulted in the Willamette representatives securing the ball were no doubt directly responsible for the failure of the Varsity to score.

The Northerners proved much worthier opponents than did the demoralized team from Los Angeles a week before. They were not only able to hold against the heavy plunges of the Varsity backs, but when they secured the ball were able to tear gaps in the line for big gains. They were especially strong in the second half in heavy tackling, back bucks and end runs. Most of the gains in this period of play were directly due to the irresistible work of Coach Bishop, who gained fame two or three seasons on the team of Columbia University.

LOSE ON FUMBLE.

The hopes of the Varsity backers were very high at the beginning of play. Snedigar, Sperry and Golcher were the backs and in a series of straight plays carried the ball 65 yards only to lose it on a fumble. Snedigar's play at this time was especially strong. He bucked for four or five yards repeatedly and would follow this up with a run around the end for eight or ten yards. Sperry was strong on straight bucks through center and never failed to make his yards. Golcher at left half suffered an injured knee and was ineffective either at bucks or end runs. He was replaced by Arlett.

In the second half, Wharton, Mead, Luce and Gabriel all had an opportunity to make a showing. Toward the end of the half they got together in good shape and made good straight gains. Mead and Wharton were responsible for the most yardage, but for the offense plays at the end of the half might have scored.

MORE FUMBLES.

Time and again, during the game, the ball was fumbled and each time it was picked up by a Willamette man for a gain of several yards. California players seemed to be unable to connect with the ball whether dropped by one of their own team or not.

The only indication of a score by Willamette was in the second half, when Chauncer, a right half, kicked from the half back position, surprising Booth in the back field and the ball rolling over the line. Booth fell on the ball, making a touch back and giving the Varsity the privilege of kicking out from the 25-yard line.

THE GAME.

California won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. Willamette kicked off to Golcher, who covered 10 yards before being downed. Golcher was sent forward for two successive straight bucks for 7 yards. Then Snedigar tore off 5 by a similar play. Sperry tried the center for about 2, and Snedigar by a buck made him the line for 3 more. Sperry's try was stopped short by Snedigar and Sperry each got a yard and a half. On an end run Golcher made the distance. Sperry, Snedigar and Golcher on three bucks purloined 6 more yards on territory. Snedigar made the sticks move for a first down. Though he covered 2-1-2 and Golcher a yard the third try failed and the Willamette took possession of the leather on the 35-yard line.

They failed to buck California's line consistently and so were forced to punt. The oval was booted to Whittman, but he fumbled and when the dust cleared away a Willamette man was anchored on the ball. Whittman punted on the 35-yard line in California's territory, the Northern team culled the end for 2-1-2, bucked for no gain and made a first down through tackle. That's all they could manage, however. For after attempting to they had to surrender the ball to the Varsity. California lined up with the oval on the 35-yard line.

GRADUAL ADVANCE.

Golcher went through for 5 followed by Snedigar around the end for 4 more. The latter again circled the same area for 8 more. A buck by Sperry netted 2 and Golcher did the trick on the end for first down. Snedigar tried the same thing on his end and advanced the ball a clean 8 yards. Golcher essayed a like attempt but no gain resulted. Snedigar in his turn covered 7 yards before he was downed. Golcher failed to do the trick around his end, but on the next play Sperry penetrated the opposing line for 2-1-2. California was penalized on this play, however, and they walked backwards for 5 and seeing their case hopeless, punted to the 5-yard line to Willamette.

Through the Websters gained 5 on end run and 2 more on a straight buck, they were forced to punt or lose the ball on down. Whittman caught the dropping sphere on the 20-yard line and ran it in to the 30-yard line before he was downed. Arlett took Golcher's place at half and was in twice in succession. The first time he was stopped but the second play netted 2. Snedigar failed on end run and so the visitors took the ball on the 25-yard line.

ENDS FIRST HALF.

Willamette covered their yards in three tries but on their last buck the ball was fumbled. By good luck it was recovered by the same side. The whistle ended the half with the ball in the middle of the field. No score.

Elliot kicked off to the 10-yard line and the ball was carried to 20-yard line. Willamette made 2 yards and then fumbled, gaining the ball themselves for a gain of 7 yards. The left half made an attempt at a gain and Wharton captured him behind Booth, who ran the ball off of the ground. It was taken to the center of the field and Wharton tried a buck for a gain. There was an outside play, however, and the Varsity lost 5 yards. Arlett tried for a buck and made no gain. Luce made four and Wharton punted 30.

BISHOP'S LITTLE RUN.

The ball in the hands of Coach Bishop now began to go over the field faster than at any other period in the game. He made a modest little run of 30 yards around left. A play was next started for right end, but Jordan was through and stopped things up.

At this juncture Mead went in at right half and Gabriel at left. The former made three yards on a buck. There was a confused signal, but Gabriel went for the rest of the yards. Gabriel and Mead made 5 yards again. Gabriel made 2 more and there was an outside play and a loss of 5 yards. Mead skirted the end for 5 yards, and in the next play the yards were made. Mead and Wharton bucked for two and a half each. Wharton made 4 more but in the next play there was a penalty of 5 yards for an outside play. While Mead and Wharton were attempting to make up this difference the half and the game were ended.

The California line-up was as follows: Sperry, Wharton, fullback; Golcher, Mead, Luce, right half; Chauncer, Elliott, right end; Kirtelle, Jordan, left end; Forca, Stow, Watson, right tackle; Stern, Twitchell, right guard; Arlett, Gabriel, left half; Snedigar, Taylor, Halfey, center; Foster, Gray, left half; Richardson, right half; left tackle; Whittman, Booth, quarter.

Officials: Umpire, Pete Smith; referee, Ben Hamilton; timer, Gallaway; 107; time of halves, 15 and 10 minutes, respectively.

BAY COUNTIES TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNEY

There were several upsets in the second day's play in the Bay Counties championship tournament on the tennis courts at the parks across the bay yesterday. Clarence Griffin defeated George James, Herbert Long defeated R. N. Whitney and Neil Baker disposed of Carl Gardner.

Play reached the semi-final round in the singles, Clarence Griffin, Percy Murdock, Charles Foley and Neil Baker being the successful players. In the doubles two second-class teams succeeded in reaching the semi-finals. They were Guerin brothers and George Hall and S. C. Gayness. Neither of these teams had anything to beat.

SURPRISE OF THE DAY.

The greatest surprise of the day was occasioned by the manner in which Clarence Griffin beat N. H. Martin, 6-3, 6-4. Carl Gardner beat H. C. Adams, 6-4, 6-0, 6-3. H. Gabriel beat G. Hall, 6-0, 6-2. H. Long beat R. Whitney, 6-4, 6-3. Third round—C. Griffin beat G. James, 6-2, 6-2. P. Murdock beat G. Baker, 6-2, 6-3. N. Baker beat C. Gardner, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. C. Foley beat H. Gabriel, 6-1, 6-2.

Men's doubles, preliminary round—Schmidt and Rolfe beat Gabriel and Abraham, 6-4, 6-2. First round—Kahn and Miller beat Code and Heath, 6-4, 6-3; Guerin brothers beat Davenport and Levinson, 6-1, 6-2; Whitney and Foley beat Adams and James, 6-2, 6-3. H. Hall Foley beat H. Baker and H. Haines by default. F. Guerin and G. Lytton beat Miller and Foley by default. Second round—Guerin brothers beat Kahn and Miller, 6-3, 6-1; Gayness and Hall beat Guerin and Lytton, 6-2, 6-4.

Men's doubles, preliminary round—Schmidt and Rolfe beat Gabriel and Abraham, 6-4, 6-2. First round—Kahn and Miller beat Code and Heath, 6-4, 6-3; Guerin brothers beat Davenport and Levinson, 6-1, 6-2; Whitney and Foley beat Adams and James, 6-2, 6-3. H. Hall Foley beat H. Baker and H. Haines by default. F. Guerin and G. Lytton beat Miller and Foley by default. Second round—Guerin brothers beat Kahn and Miller, 6-3, 6-1; Gayness and Hall beat Guerin and Lytton, 6-2, 6-4.

MURDOCK IS BEST.

Percy Murdock played the best tennis of the day. He met two good players in George Baker and Herbert Long, but he had no trouble in winning from either. Baker's slow, careful game did not bother him in the least. He was content to take the net, and there he handled the clever lobs of Baker in good style.

Herbert Long worried the Alameda crack for two sets, but after that there was nothing to it. Long went into the lead at 4-1 on the first set, but Murdock ran the next set through. Long played good tennis in the second set, while Murdock was slightly off in his game. The result was Long won, 6-3. Murdock showed an exceptionally good match was played in the first round of the doubles between R. N. Whitney and Charles Foley and Fred Adams and George James. The former team played the better tennis and won by the close score of 6-2, 7-5, 6-1.

From start to finish it was a slugging match, and the best sluggers won. James played poorer tennis than any of the four. At times he would play brilliantly, but as a rule he lost more points than he won. Hall Foley put up a splendid game, and ably assisted his older and more experienced partner.

The scores of the day's play follow: Men's singles, second round—Clarence Griffin beat N. H. Martin, 6-3, 6-4; Carl Gardner beat H. C. Adams, 6-4, 6-0, 6-3; H. Gabriel beat G. Hall, 6-0, 6-2; H. Long beat R. Whitney, 6-4, 6-3. Third round—C. Griffin beat G. James, 6-2, 6-2; P. Murdock beat G. Baker, 6-2, 6-3; N. Baker beat C. Gardner, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2; C. Foley beat H. Gabriel, 6-1, 6-2.

Men's doubles, preliminary round—Schmidt and Rolfe beat Gabriel and Abraham, 6-4, 6-2. First round—Kahn and Miller beat Code and Heath, 6-4, 6-3; Guerin brothers beat Davenport and Levinson, 6-1, 6-2; Whitney and Foley beat Adams and James, 6-2, 6-3. H. Hall Foley beat H. Baker and H. Haines by default. F. Guerin and G. Lytton beat Miller and Foley by default. Second round—Guerin brothers beat Kahn and Miller, 6-3, 6-1; Gayness and Hall beat Guerin and Lytton, 6-2, 6-4.

SEATTLE, Oct. 8.—Seattle won both games yesterday, shutting out Oakland in the first, and overcoming a good lead to take the second. Russ Hall scored on a passed ball in the second inning of the first game, and Byrnes insisted that he had him out. He insisted so long and so loudly that Howells finally ordered him out of the game. From that time forth Oakland made the first game as much of a farce as possible, dragging it out nearly two hours.

Swell work in right field by Walters was the feature of the first game. Vickers did not open the second game very well, and he had the poorest kind of support for the first two innings. Errors by Strahl and R. Hall made the first two runs possible. But Oakland came right back, presenting Seattle with two runs. Then Laiterborn was sent to the club-house because of injuries, and Charley Hall went into center, allowing Kane to go to third.

After that Seattle tightened up and played good ball. Poor coaching prevented Seattle from winning the game in the fifth. Vickers opened with a triple and R. Hall hit him home. R. Hall short fly to the outfield. The Rubs tried faithfully enough, but he had no chance. Later in the inning he could have walked home on Blankenship's hit. With two down in the seventh Frary gave Devereaux an easy chance for the third out, but the Red Dog played with the ball until Kane had brought the win home from second. Both teams agreed to call the game at the end of the seventh, and it was almost too dark to see the ball toward home. Despite the cold, a better crowd was out. Scores: RUNS AND HITS BY INNINGS.

PACIFIC TEAM BEST IN THE LEAGUE.

The cricket championship of 1905 having been won by the Pacific. Interest in the game has almost ceased, though a pick-up game or two may be played, as the season does not close till October 15. H. F. Elliott did not play for the Pacific last Sunday, as he has already taken up association football. Dr. O. N. Taylor is in Boston, while Wilkes' employment will keep him out of the city. The Vampire and Eagle association football clubs are desirous to get possession of the grounds at Webster street. A model for practice before the series of games for the championship of the California A. P. League opens.

For five innings the run column was deserted. The Berkeleyes were first to register. Helster tallied on a fly to right. It was during round seven that "Cap" Hallinan's cohorts determined their rightful claim as champions. Collop led with a single. Hooper followed suit and both centered homeward on a drive by Ramirez. Two runs was a sufficiency, for by sensational fielding, consisting of running catches and double plays, they held their giant like adversaries at bay.

ROOTERS ARE THERE.

Fully three hundred Berkeley rooters were on hand and the coaching on the side lines formed an interesting feature of the game. This is the second time the St. Mary's boys have defeated the Martinez Brothers, and for their labors they were presented with a valuable trophy.

ALAMEDA SEES GAMES OF TENNIS.

ALAMEDA, October 8.—The Bellevue Tennis Club had some interesting matches yesterday on its courts on San Jose avenue. The first and second rounds in the handicap singles were played off and the tournament is to be concluded next Sunday, when the winner will receive a handsome racket. The games were the best two out of three. The scores made were as follows: Parks beat Jones, by default; Oils beat Oliver 5-3; Morton beat Gibbs 6-3, 7-5; Foster beat Bartlett, 6-3, 8-6; Flint beat Teller, 4-8, 8-6, 8-6; Porter won from Van Orden, by default; E. Jones won from Kramer, by default.

Second round—Parks beat Newell, 6-1, 8-6; Oils beat Norton, 6-4, 6-4; E. Jones beat Porter, 1-6, 6-1, 7-5. Foster and Flint will play next Sunday, and Oils, who beat Newell 6-1, 6-3, in the final match of the day, will play the winner of the day.

Tribune's Expert, Touring the East, Writes About Various Matters of Local Interest.

BY EDDIE SMITH.
(Staff Correspondent.)

CHICAGO, September 26 (Delayed in transmission).—We were fifteen hours late coming into Chicago, on account of the wreck at Newton, Kan., as we were only forty-five minutes behind the train that was wrecked. However, we were thankful that we got here as soon as we did. Willie pictures were on the train that jumped the track and after Willie had been hauled out of the wreckage, he started right back in again, exclaiming, "Don't mind me, just save those moving pictures." I afterwards met him in Kansas City and he was so nervous that he had to lay over a night there.

In speaking of Britt, reminds me that the Britt-Nelson fight is still fresh in the memory of the sporting public here, and they are waiting anxiously for pictures. Graney's right to and reason for declaring all bets off is the main topic. The majority of the sports are of the opinion that he was wrong, and that he cast reflections on Jeffries that he had no right to do.

The argument advanced here is that a referee has no right to declare bets off unless there is something wrong with the fight, and that no referee can tell before a contest is fought whether or not the men are trying, and Jeffries' position in the sporting world should have been a guarantee to Graney that he was not in on any deal to throw Nelson down.

AFTER NELSON.

Jack Blackburn, a colored lightweight, is very anxious to get a chance at Nelson and there are many number of people here that will back him against the Dane. He has a very good record, having lost only one decision in 103 fights. According to reports he has the punch to drop Nelson if he lands.

Jimmy Gardner is very well thought of here; it is really hard to find any one that does not say that Nelson had better stay a long way off from him. They also think that he would have little trouble in handling Gans. In fact, it is the consensus of opinion here that Gans is all in and that the first good man he goes against will win from him.

ABOUT KAUFMANN.

I am being asked a great deal about Kaufmann since Delaney has taken him. The sports are not guessing as to whether or not Billy will be able to push to the front another California champion. At any rate, the sports argue that Kaufmann must be a good man or Billy would not be wasting his time with him.

The Chicago Athletic Club expects to pull off six round bouts here this winter, and is making preparations to handle some of the best in the country. As the people here are fight-thirsty, the club should have no trouble in regards to making it pay.

WITH GEORGE SILER.

Saturday night, September 24, I spent a few very pleasant hours with George Siler who was celebrating his fifty-ninth birthday. Mr. Siler is very popular here among the sports, and they are all congratulating him for the manly stand he took in regards to refereeing the Britt-Nelson bout in not forcing himself on Britt when he knew that Britt did not want him.

BASEBALL BOOM.

Baseball here is on the boom. Saturday there were fifteen thousand and Sunday twenty-two thousand on the field. It was very noticeable to me that there was no selling of pools or gambling on the grounds. In fact, the minute that any one starts betting at the games, out of the grounds he goes.

The New Yorks, who are leading the league, played very loose ball last week, but there was no talk of the players being fixed to loose, or any such talk as went around when Frisco and Tacoma were finishing the first half. The umpire comes in for his regular roasting, and when a player makes a bad play the fans roast him also, but there is none of that talk of this one or that one being fixed that always exists where there is betting to any extent.

TIP O'NEAL COMING.

Tip O'Neal is making great preparations for the all-star team that he is going to bring to the Coast. He says that the team will consist of players never before seen on the Coast. There are several of the California players that want to get on the team, but Tip says that he must have new faces.

Of all the places for "fanning" I have ever seen is Joe Cantillian Log Cabin, where Tip has his headquarters. The players from big and small leagues congregate there and fan about all the players all over the country. Several times I have been asked as to how the three new players Oakland bought are getting on, especially Richards, whom they think is the makings of a great player. As to Hackett all any one will get on about him was, "Leave him alone; he will get on all right."

The Western League, of which Tip O'Neal is president, has just finished the season and most of the clubs made money; in fact, none of them lost to any extent. From information I received from the players, this was due to a great extent to the great work done by Tip. He can be the president next season for the asking, but he says that he will not take it unless things are in better condition than they were at the beginning of last season. But it is dollar to doughnuts that Tip will again be president of the Western League.

Gauley, who was playing with Des Moines this year, brought that club $2,000 when he was sold to Pittsburgh. According to reports Bobby is playing great ball.

Frank Freeman is also playing a great game, although he is not hitting as good as he should.

We are leaving this evening for New York and as it is time to get the train I must stop fanning, or I will miss it.

RELIANCE CLUB ELEVEN IS BEATEN.

A snappy game of football was played yesterday afternoon between the team from the United States ship Rush and the Reliance Club of Oakland. The sailors won with a score of 5 to 0. The other side was on the defensive during the entire game, and had no chance to score at any time, being clearly outclassed. The special feature of the game was a forty-yard run by Hampton, the star half-back of the Rush team.

The sailors are prepared to meet any team in this part of the country that weighs less than 160 pounds. On next Thursday they will play a game with the Presidio Hospital Corps team.

PRESBYTERIANS SETTLE DIFFICULTIES.

Pastor Finally Secured for Warring
Factions of a Rich Berkeley
Church Congregation.

BERKELEY, October 9.—Good news came to the First Presbyterian Church yesterday when an important announcement to the congregation was made by Rev. E. G. Wicher. He informed members of the church that the church had called Rev. Lapsley A. McAfee, a distinguished minister and member of a family of famous Presbyterian ministers, to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley. With this announcement, which came as a surprise to the greater part of the congregation, was given the news that the governing officials of the church have purchased two lots on the northeast corner of Duane and Channing way on which to erect a magnificent new edifice for the use of the church body.

These two places of information, distinctly gratifying the congregation, are taken to indicate that the factions of the church have finally decided upon peace, and that the questions which for a long time divided them have been satisfactorily settled. One of these problems was the choice of a minister, and the other the disposition to be made of the church property.

For nearly two years, the church, one of the richest and most influential in the college town has been without a minister. Various candidates have been tried, but none was acceptable to both factions. The radicals desired an able, modern man, while the conservatives held out for an efficient minister who would administer matters on conservative lines.

The arguments have been constant between the factions, but in Rev. Lapsley A. McAfee the session believes the man has been found who will satisfy all factions. Mr. McAfee is now at Phoenix, Arizona. Four of his brothers are ministers of prominence in the church. One occupies the pulpit in Brooklyn from which Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, preacher for many years, Rev. McAfee's father is president of Park College, a Presbyterian institution in Iowa.

The Presbyterians of Berkeley will continue to use their present building for one year, which is the length of time that Rev. McAfee has agreed to preach in Berkeley. After that time, the Trinity Methodist Church, which has bought the property of the Presbyterians on Alston way will use the building, for which they have agreed to pay $25,000. A considerable portion of the Presbyterian body objected to this sale of property, and threatened an injunction. But they have since their wishes in a desire for harmony, and the First Presbyterian Church now is united at peace and apparently on the high ground of great spiritual and material prosperity.

Rev. McAfee will deliver his first sermon in Berkeley on the first Sunday in November.

RELIGIOUS WORK AT SAN LORENZO

SAN LORENZO, October 9.—The San Lorenzo Christian Endeavor Society, under the lead of the Rev. Mr. Gause, has often ministered to the well being and happiness of the inmates of the County Hospital. At its last meeting possible ways and means of securing a chapel at the County Hospital was discussed and a committee of three appointed to cooperate with the county C. E. with a view of bringing the chapel to bear upon the county. Supervisors to secure the erection of a chapel there.

A union service of Hayward, San Leandro and San Lorenzo C. E. is being planned for Sunday, October 15. It will be held at San Lorenzo, following the service by Mr. Gause.

She said she loved him with all her might. No wonder he was elate. For she was a widow in weeds bedight. And a widow's mite is great.

"CO-EDS" TO ASSIST
GRAVE PROFESSOR.

HELEN FOSS WEEKS.

University Girls Have Unique Honor
—Men Students Displaced From Responsible Positions.

BERKELEY, Oct. 9.—A unique honor has come to several University "co-eds." The girls are Miss Estelle Wilson, Miss Helen Foss Weeks, Miss Marian Allen and Miss Joan Nettie Green, and they have been appointed assistants to Professor William Corger Morgan in the department of chemistry. Heretofore the assistants to the professors of chemistry have been men students, but this year all of those selected from the senior class because of distinguished scholarship in this particular branch of science are women students.

The great majority of women students at the State's seat of learning at Berkeley go in for the culture courses and select as their major studies English, Greek, Latin, history or some of the other courses that make up the social science curriculum. The men usually take all the honors in the technical colleges and the mechanical sciences. But the four co-eds who have left the beaten paths of learning followed by their college sisters have surpassed the men in their own work. So brilliant has been their work in chemical research, a course usually scorned by the women students, that they have picked all the prizes and left the college men far in the rear. It is the custom of the professor of chemistry who has charge of the laboratory courses, prescribed for freshmen to select the brightest members of the senior class to take charge of the laboratory work of the intrants and help them over the difficult places in the experiments. Over the largest section of freshmen the girls named have been chosen to preside by Dr. Morgan, and they have already justified their selection.

Miss Green and Miss Weeks are members of the Alpha Beta Sigma Sorority. Miss Allen is a member of the Delta Delta Letta, and Miss Wilson of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority. They take keen delight in the unusual work they have chosen for themselves and have thoroughly mastered all the secrets of the chemistry workshop. They are as familiar with the complicated mechanism, the crucibles and Bunsen burners, the technical colleges and the mechanical sciences. But the four co-eds who have left the beaten paths of learning followed by their college sisters have surpassed the men in their own work. So brilliant has been their

REVISE
5c FARE TO ELMHURST

Professor Plehn Effects of Recent
Has Data for the Granting of Commission. Franchise.

BERKELEY, October 9.—Professor Carl C. Plehn, dean of the college of commerce, left last evening for Sacramento to attend an important meeting of the State commission which was appointed by the last Legislature to investigate the taxation laws of the State and to recommend needed changes in these laws. The commission has Governor Hardie for its chairman, and Professor Plehn is secretary. Its sessions began at 10 o'clock this morning.

Professor Plehn is rated as an expert on economic questions and he has prepared for the use of the commission a great deal of material bearing upon the situation in California, with respect to the tax laws. He favors putting the properties of the State into two divisions, one for State taxation purposes and the other for municipal and county or local purposes. The public service corporations he would have pay the State taxes, and the real estate and other properties in the State be taxed for local purposes.

His data will indicate what proportion of the income from various sorts of properties is now taken for taxes, and with this data the commission will have means of determining where inequalities exist.

The commission's report will be presented to the Legislature at its next session. The revision desired was recommended by Governor Pardee in his message last winter, and will have to take the form of a constitutional amendment, to be submitted to the people at a general election, after being sent to the Legislature.

ELMHURST, October 9.—The awarding to the O. T. C. street railway company of the franchise for a street railroad on East Fourteenth street from First avenue to Thirteenth avenue, by the Oakland City Council, last Monday, and the desire of Elmhurst people for a five-cent fare to Elmhurst makes of interest the following letter received here some time ago:

July 26, 1905.

Mr. Jas. J. O'Toole,
Representative of the Citizens of Elmhurst and Vicinity.

Dear Sir:—Responsive to your request as to the intent of this corporation if the franchise applied for at the request of the citizens of East Oakland, Fruitvale, Elmhurst, San Leandro, Hayward and Alameda on East Fourteenth street between First and Twelfth avenues be granted to this company, I would state that we will endeavor to proceed with the construction of standard gauge tracks as far as Elmhurst street before the end of the summer or before the rainy season commences, and that we will prosecute the work as far toward your town as possible.

The schedule for running the cars after the work is completed will be improved and change in fare made as soon as circumstances under the new conditions are in operation will warrant the form of a constitutional amendment, to be submitted to the people at a general election, after being sent to the Legislature.

WILL TALK
FOR CITY

Entertainment for Firemen—Whist
—Athletics.

FRUITVALE, October 9.—An entertainment in support of the firemen's fund will be given at Blackman's Hall, October 21st, by Mrs. F. C. Nelson, Mrs. E. D. Bassett, Mrs. K. McClellan and Mrs. T. Buntin for the benefit of the local volunteer fire department. The entertainment is to consist of the following vaudeville numbers: Trick bicycle riding, Dick Williamson of the Oakland Wheelmen; musical act by Fred Ruder and Harry Brown of the Reliance Club; M. T. Moran, acrobatic foolishness; Miss Eva Lettner, songs and dance; Miss Hilthy Buttler, fancy dance; Miss Ethel Bayliss, soprano; Mr. Scott Howat, comedian; Miss Clara Galloway, soprano; Mr. G. Eppinger, vocal selection; and the Nelson family of juvenile acrobats, six in number.

The Fire Department is in great need of money with which to repair the hose, pay rent on the fire house, get a new nozzle, rubber coats and hats.

Incidentally, house repairs are being made by the ladies for contributions toward the supper and thus far they have met with great success.

A splendid evening's entertainment is promised to all.

INCORPORATING FRUITVALE.

The Fruitvale Board of Trade will meet as usual Tuesday evening at its rooms on Fruitvale avenue. It is expected that there will be a large attendance, as much business of the utmost importance to the whole of Fruitvale district will come up. "Shall Fruitvale district incorporate as a city" will be the leading topic before the meeting, and committees from the Central and other improvement clubs in the district will be there to report the views of people in their sections, and to assist in making plans for thoroughgoing the public sentiment in all parts of the district.

THE FORUM.

An interesting program was prepared by the Forum for October 13th to be given at Armory Hall. On this occasion Captain J. W. Petersen, of the Oakland police force, is to deliver a lecture on "What a Policeman Sees and Knows."

Besides this, the committee on arrangements is preparing a long list of attractive features, including a number of musical selections by talented artists of Fruitvale and elsewhere.

Several literary matters, in the shape of papers and recitations, are also to be given.

SANITARY DISTRICT.

At the last meeting of the Sanitary Board of Fruitvale district the inspector of the city health department, Mr. J. H. Atwood, reported that he had inspected 21 houses and collected $47.00 in fees. Bids for laying the sewer on Washington street were opened, and the contract awarded to W. S. Dudley, for 65c. per running foot.

ATHLETIC CLUB.

Athletic club entertainment, last Friday evening, drew a crowd of about 200 people, who were quite comfortably accommodated on nicely improvised benches.

The program included boxing bouts between Popper and Hendricksen, Zeph and Riley, and Derby, Shields and Myers. Tommy Rowe and Hinds; heavyweight lifting by Constable Tom Carroll; giant on one hand by Prof. Hoffman, director of the club athletics, and Constable Carroll. Chas. F. Lee, the real estate dealer, was master of ceremonies. Ed Jacobson, referee, the first three boxing "goes" and Ed Warren, the second three. Warren has been chosen as the boxing champion of the club.

The regular monthly whist tournament of the Whist Club will occur at St. Elizabeth's hall, on Wednesday, October 11th.

PALOMARES CANYON
ON THE MOVE

PALOMARES CANYON, October 9.—The canyon is on the move. October 1 seems to rouse everyone to the benefits of change of climate.

Ed Dermid has bought out a small dairy at Pittsburg and is moving his family and household goods thither.

M. Costa, who has been living at the old Mount place, will now take possession of the ranch vacated by Mc Dermid, which he purchased from the railroad company.

DETERMINED WOMAN
HOLDS THE FORT.

Feminine Resident of Alameda Refuses to Vacate Premises Despite Orders to Do So.

ALAMEDA, October 9.—"A man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still," runs the old saying, and it was one of the feminine persuasion who rounded it out, by adding—"much more, a woman."

Miss Marion Jacobs, tenant of Encinal lodge, in the rear part of the quarters of the Odd Fellows' building on Park street, which have been leased to the Government for postoffice quarters on a five-years' term, commencing November 1st, will not be convinced, will not be bought off and will not move, at least until the requirements of a legal notice to vacate shall force her to seek another store on October 31.

In the meantime the work of completing the place for the occupancy of the Alameda postoffice is at a standstill, balked by the determination of a little woman who says she has a grievance and who asserts that she has rights which come before the United States Government.

Miss Jacobs has for four months conducted a small fancy goods store in the building, and while the lodge members say she has unofficially aided some time ago of the necessity for her removal, she forced them to give her a formal month's notice to vacate by October 31.

Miss Jacobs has posted in a conspicuous place on her wall the receipt given her for rent for September and October, and the sarcastic inscription: "How a woman is treated by a fraternal order. Their first notice after renting store for holiday season."

The notice is as follows:

S. Marion Jacobs—You are notified that it is from the undersigned that you hold possession as a tenant of the premises at 2333 Santa Clara avenue, and you are hereby notified to vacate the said premises by the 31st day of October, 1905. (Signed)

DAVID W. MARTIN,
V. M. FRODDEN.

Trustees for Encinal Lodge.

The determined woman declares she will not leave the premises until the last day of grace the law allows her. She affirms that she asked the lodge to reimburse her to the amount of her loss in fitting up the place, but that all that was proffered her was $50.

The members of Encinal lodge, however, assert that she was offered $50 in cash, and a month's rent, for making a total of $50, a proposal which she scornfully rejected.

MEN'S CLUB.

ALAMEDA, October 9.—Tomorrow evening at the open meeting of the Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church, at the corner of Santa Clara avenue and Chestnut street, a program of unusual interest will be presented, the affair being an informal reception in honor of Congressman Joseph R. Knowland of this city.

United States Senator George C. Perkins is to be present, and will discourse on the topic, "Our Diplomatic Relations," a subject with which he is familiar through his long service in the National legislative halls at Washington. Congressman Knowland is to speak on the subject, "Washington Impressions." He delivered an address of a similar character some time ago before the Unitarian Club, when he was the guest of honor. The meeting tomorrow night is to be in the auditorium of the church.

The address of welcome will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Frank S. Brush, the pastor. A Horatio Cogswell is to contribute a baritone solo and Mrs. Orrin Rip McMurray a soprano solo. A number of the Brights will be rendered by Sam- uel Adelstein. Mrs. Elizabeth Westgate is to preside at the organ. A soprano and baritone duet are to be rendered by Mrs. McMurray and Mr. Cogswell.

AN ADDRESS.

ALAMEDA, October 9.—The Unitarian Club, which shows a liking for esthetic researches, is to listen to an address at the regular meeting next Monday evening by Dr. Albert Abrams, who will speak on the subject, "The Psychology of Deception." In the musical part of the program Mr. A. Horatio Cogswell is to render three baritone solos—"All For You" (D'Hardiot), "You'd Better Ask Me" (Lohr), and "Three Green Bonnets" (D'Hardiot). Arthur F. Johnson will contribute two violin solos. The introduction committee for the evening is composed of County Tax Collector James B. Barber of this city, W. D. Littleton and Linwood Palmer.

SERIOUS INJURIES.

ALAMEDA, October 9.—F. B. Searing, who was hurt in a railroad wreck near College Park Friday evening was brought here at 7 p. m. by ambulance. He was taken to the residence of H. W. Ellis at 1515 Benton street. His wife and two children are with him. It was feared he had sustained serious internal injuries, and on Saturday his condition was precarious in the opinion of Dr. J. A. Ellis of San Francisco, who is attending him. He is now reported improving, however.

Searing is a commercial traveler in the employ of Brigham & Hoppe, commission merchants of San Francisco. He was on one of his regular trips in the interest of the firm when he was injured.

FUNERAL HELD.

ALAMEDA, October 9.—The funeral of Miss Bessie Young took place at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, 3420 Webb avenue, being attended by many sorrowing friends. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Marshall of the First M. E. Church. Floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The interment followed in Evergreen cemetery.

SUMMER

SERVICES

Business and Social Doings on a Large Scale. Native Sons Meet and Listen to Orations.

HAYWARD, October 8.—Robert Graff has purchased the James O'Neill tract of thirty acres, on which he proposes to create a large summer resort. It is given out that Mr. Graff has interviewed many wealthy capitalists, and that enough already have been solicited to more than justify him to go ahead with his plans. He intends laying out a tract for homes, besides the tract necessary for a hotel resort.

GIG VEGETABLE GARDEN.

C. M. Buck has been in Tulare county the past few weeks putting in an extensive tract in early vegetables near Lindsay. The company he is interested in will grow about 250 acres of vegetables. They have now an extensive irrigation system from pumping plants, and the valley is now very productive.

ANNIVERSARY BALL.

A coming social event is the grand anniversary ball to be given by Hayward Circle, Companions of the Forest, and Court Hayward F. of A. at Native Sons' Hall, Saturday evening, October 14th. Hayward Circle is celebrating its fifth anniversary in giving this ball. Riggs' Orchestra will furnish the music.

It goes without saying that the ball will be largely attended and be a grand social success, for both orders have hosts of friends throughout the valley. The committees in charge are: Companions of the Forest: Miss Amelia Hall, Saturday evening; Mrs. E. Perella, Miss Mamie Varney, Court Hayward F. of A.: J. H. Silver, chairman; Alex. August and Jos. Woods.

D. E. S. DELEGATES.

Delegates from Hayward to the meeting of the Supreme Council, I. O. E. S., now in session at Stockton are: M. M. Lomas, Antonio F. Gomez, J. A. Amara, D. T. Nunes, M. T. Silveira, J. T. Felkood.

BASKET BALL.

The Hayward High School girls' basketball team played that of the Commercial High School of San Francisco at the grounds of the latter last Saturday. The Hayward line-up was: Center, Miss Ethel Versey; touch, Miss Nelda Oakes and Miss Hazel Brunner; guard, Miss Helen Jacobsen, goals.

Comet fence posts are coming into use here.

Capt. Giddings is having a nice residence erected on his place in Castro Valley.

The Meek auction sale will be Friday and Saturday, October 27th and 28th. Mrs. M. Vargas has let the contract to Amador Brothers for the erection of a six-room cottage on upper B street. The Halladay auction sale brought in $2000.

BERKELEY, Oct. 9.—Memorial services were held by Berkeley Parlor of Native Sons yesterday afternoon. The hall was crowded to witness the carrying out of the following program: Invocation, Rev. Rathbone; anthem, "Nearer My God to Thee," Berkeley Quartet; address, Rev. Frederic Maat; bass solo, "Jesu, Christ, Our King" (Mozart); Frank Argall; In Memoriam, Bro. Wm. H. Waste; anthem, "Dear Jerusalem," Berkeley Quartet; response, Bro. R. A. Berry; chapel, Bro. Frank R. Wehe; anthem: "Chapel (Kreutzer), Berkeley Quartet; benediction, Rev. Rathbone.
